HEAVY FIRE LOSS AT HILLSVILLE

Two Buildings In Hillsville Are Ruined By Fire

Store And Apartment And Adjoining Home Are Burned To Ground

ESTIMATE LOSS AT APPROXIMATELY $10,000

Bessemer And Lowellville Send Aid—Fire Occurs About Midnight Saturday

Fire of an undetermined origin, but believed to have been caused by an overheated condition of the heating stove in the front room of the home of Joe DiLullo on Fox avenue, Hillsville, late Saturday night, destroyed the home in which it originated; also the store and apartment above of S. E. LiLullo and the garage of Arthur B. Williams.

It threatened for a time to communicate itself to the home of Arthur B. Williams and a house owned by the Johnson Limestone Company, located on each side of the devastated district. But for the excellent work of the Johnson Limestone Company volunteer firemen and the assistance rendered by the Bessemer fire fighters, the loss would have been much greater and the fire would probably have destroyed a considerable number of other homes in the district.

The loss is estimated at approximately $10,000 and is believed to be covered in part by insurance.

Aid Is Sent

Fire fighters and apparatus were sent to Hillsville in answer to an appeal for aid from both Bessemer

British Proposals Being Considered

Chinese Situation Revolves Around British Proposals For Adjustment

(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The Chinese situation today apparently revolved around the British proposals to China, according to despatches from Peking and Shanghai.

The Chinese authorities at Peking, Shanghai and Hankow were considering the proposals, and the diplomatic situation was expected to remain static until replies are received from the various factions.

The feeling prevails there that the Factions will make an attempt to compose their differences and take advantage of the British offers.

A despatch from Peking said Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian war lord and virtual dictator at Peking, was so dissatisfied with the British proposals that he issued orders on Friday to stop all troop movements southward and to prepare for the return to Mukden, capital of Manchuria. This would have left North China practically open to the advance of the Cantonese forces.

However, after a long discussion with his staff, Chang was persuaded to give orders for a resumption of the southward advance of his armies.

Hundreds View College Fire Ruins Sunday Afternoon

Hundreds of visitors were in New Wilmington on Sunday viewing the ruins of "Old Main" swept by fire during the past week.

During the afternoon the number of autos on the streets near the campus got so large that it was necessary for an officer to take up traffic duty and keep the cars moving, in order that the street could be kept open for traffic.

The visitors came from all directions, many being old time students or alumni residing in Western Pennsylvania or Eastern Ohio, who took the opportunity to drive to the college town on Sunday and look at the damage wrought by fire at the old college.

Two of the walls, the north and south walls, were still standing on Sunday. The east and west walls have given way and tumbled down. Work of razing the walls that are still standing will be started at once.

Mrs. McPherson To Hold Services In Dayton, Ohio

Famous Evangelist To Start Three Days' Series This Evening

NO HEALING WILL BE ON SCHEDULE

(International News Service)

DAYTON, O., Jan. 31.—Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, and central figure in the sensational McPherson "kidnaping case", was scheduled to arrive here tonight for a three-day evangelistic meeting in Dayton.

Admission to the meetings here will be free, and a free-will offering will be taken for the evangelist, which, it is said, will mark a departure from the custom previously followed on her lecture tour of the nation, as a flat admission fee has been charged in other cities.

"Faith healing", which featured Mrs. McPherson's meeting on the Pacific coast, will have no part in the public meetings here, under an agreement between those promoting her appearance here and the directors of Memorial Hall, who agreed to permit use of the hall only on condition there should be no "healing" services.

Tremendous crowds are expected to attend the McPherson meetings here, and plans have been made to handle capacity audiences at the Memorial Hall sessions. The first meeting will be held Tuesday night.

Aged Man Kills Self As Result Of Nervousness

Suffering From Illness, Thomas Golder Shoots Himself In Bed This Morning

HAD BEEN IN POOR HEALTH SOME TIME

Deceased Had Been Employed By Carnegie Steel Company For Many Years

While suffering from extreme nervousness, due to illness, Thomas Golder, aged 75, of 417 Epworth street, shot himself about 8:30 o'clock this morning. The bullet entered the roof of his mouth and came out back of the right ear.

Retires On Pension

For many years Mr. Golder was employed by the Carnegie Steel company, being foreman of the blowers department at the furnace. On account of his age he had been retired on pension on January 1, 1927. Of late he has been suffering from infirmities due to his advancing years, and for the past two years has complained of his head hurting him. He had been under the care of a physician.

Sunday afternoon he was about as usual, and a neighbor was in visiting him during the greater part of the afternoon. Mrs. Golder arose about 8 o'clock this morning, leaving Mr. Golder in bed. He had remarked to her before she left the room, that he was "feeling awful."

About a half hour later, Mrs. Golder heard a shot, and on running up to her husband's room, found him lying in bed, just as she had left him, but with a revolver in his right hand. Dr. Dickey was

Governor To Send Budget Message To State Legislature

State Law Makers To Receive Fisher's Budget At Session Tonight

FORESEE INCREASE OVER LAST BUDGET

Legislature To Get Down To Work On Bills After Hearing Message

By G. ROSS DOWNING
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 31.—Pennsylvania's law makers were returning to the capital city today to have put before them tonight Gov. John S. Fisher's budget for the next biennium. Then they will take up earnest legislation of the 1927 session of the general assembly, which opened four weeks ago.

Gov. Fisher will present his budget in both houses of the legislature soon after they convene at 9 o'clock tonight. Copies of the financial program for the commonwealth for the next two years, which covers approximately 350 printed pages, will be furnished all members for study.

Larger Budget.

It is believed that the budget will be slightly larger than the one presented two years ago by Gifford Pinchot, but that the increase will be explained on the basis of the graduated scale. It is understood that the governor will point out that the increase can be taken care of by the increased amount of revenue thus making any rate increase unnecessary.

The administrative code of 1923 provides that the budget must be placed before the general assembly within four weeks after the convening of that body.

The budget will be the starting whistle for appropriation bills, many of which are expected to be

Andrews Tires Of Waiting For Congress To Act

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Chafing under congress' refusal to enact his dry legislative program, L. C. Andrews, dry chief, today threatened to take the bit in his own teeth to clamp down more stringent enforcement regulations.

Unless something is done to strengthen his powers, Andrews said prohibition enforcement would be materially handicapped and "the illegal traffic might get out of control entirely."

Andrews threatened to do two things after March 4 unless congress acts upon his recommendations:

1. Issue permits to distilleries all over the country to manufacture medicinal whiskey.

2. Invoke old revenue laws to confiscate buildings in which moonshine liquor is made.

"Moonshine will be the whiskey of the future and something drastic has to be done to curtail its manufacture," said Andrews.

Important Bills Before Congress Are Foredoomed

Ninth Week Of Session Starts —No Important Legislation As Yet

NO DEFINITE MOVE FOR EXTRA SESSION

Little Legislation Will Be Enacted At Regular Session Of Congress

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Congress began its ninth week today facing a legislative jam which, leaders admit, foredooms most of the important bills now pending.

Not a single piece of major legislation has passed both Houses with the exception of appropriation bills, nor is there at present a definitely organized movement for an extra session after March 4th.

Congress Not Alarmed

Farm relief, Muscle Shoals and Boulder Dam loomed today as the most important controversial issues yet to be decided. Backers of a dozen other measures are clamoring for recognition.

The situation apparently does not alarm congressional leaders. The chief purpose of the short session, they point out, is to make appropriations. The country, too, they say, is clamoring for fewer laws rather than more.

Swerved from its legislative course by the international situation and the fight over the seats of Senator Gould, Republican, of Maine, Senator-designate Frank L. Smith of Illinois and the Cyrus Woods nomination, the Senate has not touched the program laid down by its steering committee.

This program is the Gooding long and short haul bill, the Capper truth-in-fabric bill, Boulder Dam, the French spoliation claims, two prohibition reorganization bills and reorganization of foreign commerce bureau.

Browning Attorneys Threaten To Show Peaches Is Woman With Past

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

COURTHOUSE, WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Jan. 31.—"Peaches" Browning's diary of her flapper days before she met her elderly millionaire husband, Edward W. ("Daddy") Browning, will not be admitted as evidence, Justice Albert Seeger ruled at the resumption of the Browning separation trial today.

Judge Seeger also excluded as evidence letters "Peaches" wrote before her marriage. Browning's attorney had told the court the letters would show "the kind of a girl" "Peaches" was before she was married to "Daddy".

Oppose Diary

Browning's chief attorney, Judge John E. Mack, told Judge Seeger he had a brief he wished to submit in which he had outlined his reasons for asking that the diary be allowed as evidence.

"I object", said Henry Epstein, "Peaches'" attorney, "on the ground that I have not seen this brief and, furthermore, we are opposed to the admission of this diary."

Judge Seeger said:

"Gentlemen, I will save you argument about this matter—this diary is excluded."

Intimate Comments

The excluded diary was said to contain a recital of the parties and dances "Peaches" attended before she knew "Daddy" and comments

NOTED SWIMMER TAKEN BY DEATH

Sybil Bauer Dies In Hospital In Chicago Early This Morning

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Sybil Bauer, famous woman swimmer, died early today at Michael Reese hospital following a long illness. Miss Bauer had been confined to the hospital for several months from complications that developed after an operation for intestinal disorder.

At the bedside when death came were Miss Bauer's parents, a brother and her fiance, Edward Sullivan, New York newspaper man.

The death of the noted star came as a distinct surprise as it was announced only a few days ago that she was recovering rapidly.

Miss Bauer was holder of many national and international swimming records. She was noted especially for her back stroke records. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bauer of Chicago. Until the break in her health Miss Bauer was a student at Northwestern university.

This spring-like weather ain't a-foolin' me, I'm keepin' my heavies close at hand, of course I ain't belittlin' these gorgeous sunny days I'm agreein' that they're simply supergrand. For although it looks beguilin' when the sun shines clear and warm, and the breezes sort of hint at days to come, the fellow that discards his coat and steps out in his sleeves, is just another bucko that is dumb. For behind those guilin' breezes there's a chilly draft ye ken, and pneumonia lays in wait while you're at play, so beware these springy mornin's, and hold on your wools a while, though it's tough I know, it's 31 today.

Outsider Gives Views On New Castle

Following is the voluntary contribution of a man who has been in enterprises in many cities throughout the country in the line of his work, and is acquainted with city conditions throughout the nation. He writes his conclusions and ris deducations about New Castle.

The letter follows:

Mr. Fred L. Rentz,

Dear Sir:

A lady acquaintance of Charles Dickens used to say she loved to sit on the porch and look out over the bay and watch the ships go sailing pro and con.

I think you have a very good newspaper and I enjoy reading "Hints and Dints," but of late am somewhat puzzled. Is New Castle on trial? Certainly not! The Lord has appointed none of us to dispense language of abuse. And besides, you are too busy helping to make New Castle the most attractive city of its size in the world to have time to take notice of foreign critics.

Arise Ye!—and go Pro. What New Castle needs is—nothing, but to continue with its present stock of common sense. Everything, weather and women not excepted, has its advantages and disadvantages.

My introduction to New Castle was in connection with the recent financing of Westminster College to which New Castle responded magnificently. It was gratifying to find the NEWS giving its fullest support to this effort. The attitude of a newspaper sometimes is in a case of this kind—what is there in it for us?

From then on my association with the community won me to a respect and admiration for New Castle. There is here a large percentage of men of exceptional character and ideals in all walks of life. That some of you fall on each other's necks with swords and not kisses is unfortunate, but human.

The people of this community generally are honest and dependable, hospitable and generous. There are fewer shoe-string businesses here, there is less four-flushing, less double-crossing, less fakery and crooked dealing than in any place I know of.

This is as solidly and truly a real American community as any spot in the United States. It may be you are somewhat provincial. I do not know. I know they are very provincial in New York City. I have heard that you lack a sense of humor, being so largely of Scotch extraction, but these are not grievious faults, and there is no danger that George Muse will leave you.

That is my personal reaction. My observation is that this community deserves a high rank with others of its class.

The community is well governed. The law is enforced here. You have an unexcelled educational system supplemented by such nearby and fortunately small colleges as Westminster, Grove City, Geneva and others. You have about sixty places of worship and men have tried but failed to invent something better for humanity than Christianity.

Let us now take a look around New Castle and fully realize what has happened here recently and what is still going on.

A new modern class A hotel of 150 rooms is under construction. A modernly equipped hospital to cost approximately three quarters of a million dollars soon will be

Beaver To Send Delegation Here To Hear Grainger

Program For Celebrated Pianist Is Presented—Concert Thursday

Interest in the Percy Grainger concert in the senior high school on Thursday night of this week is very high. This is the first appearance of the celebrated Australian pianist-composer in New Castle and he is attracting much attention far and near.

Miss Margaret Allison has reserved 30 seats for a group of 30 of her pupils from Beaver.

Sister Caroline of the Convent at Sharon who studied in Grainger's Master class in Chicago, has arranged to come and is trying to have Grainger give a master lesson to a number of pupils in Sharon during his two day stay here.

Grainger is a popular pianist and a popular man. He is an American citizen and served during the World War in the U. S. army. He is of the athletic type and has unusually clean habits which are undoubtedly due to the continuous companionship of his loving mother who travelled with him continually until she died in 1922.

He is a most informal artist. On one occasion he came out to play his concert and the piana was to far back, so he took hold of it and in a few seconds placed it where he wanted it and started in on the program with no apologies.

While he plays a heavy program he will give the audience some heart pulling tunes if they want them, for his encores he uses such numbers as Guion's "Turkey in the Straw" or some of his own numbers like "Molly on the Shore," "Country Gardens" "Irish Tune from County Derry" or many others now famous the world over. In fact if Grainger doesn't appeal to the "low brow" music fan then there is no other pianist in the world who will.

For the benefit of many local teachers and pupils of piano who have been anxious to learn of it, the program is given below:

1—a. Prelude and Fugue A minor for for clavier—Bach.
b. Choral prelude for organ (Weep O Man for Thy great Sin.)—Bach.
c. Toccato in A—Paradies.
d. Sonata B. minor—Scarlati.
e. The Harmonious Blacksmith—Handel.
2.—Sonata No. 3 G minor Op. 32—Schumann.
a. So rasch wie moeglich.
b. Andantino.
c. Scherzo.
d. Rondo: Presto.
3—a. Ballad G minor Op. 118 No. 3—Brahms.
b. Intermezzo E flat, Op. 117, No. 1—Brahms.
c. Rhapsody G minor Op. No. 2—Brahms.
d. Intermezzo C. Sharp, Op. 117, No. 3—Brahms.
e. Rhapsody E. Flat, Op. 119 No. 4—Brahms.
4.—a. Liebestraum (A Dream of Love No. 3)—Liszt.
b. Hungarian Rhapsody No. 12—Liszt.

The house will have eight bills for second reading consideration and the senate 11.

Bills to be considered in the house will include:

The Marcus bills, one classifying judicial districts and fixing salaries, and another making a separate office for the purposes of nomination, election or appointment of each judgeship in every court where there are two or more judges, excepting the supreme and superior courts.

The Flinchbaugh bill, validating certain proceedings and elections in municipalities and school districts.

The Blumberg bill, regulating the re-sale of tickets for theatres, sporting contests or amusements.

The Alexander bills, one creating two additional judges in Delaware county, and the other authorizing the appointment of stenographers and clerks by judges in counties of the fourth class.

The Wilson bill, eliminating the fixed minimum prison sentence in the Ludlow act of 1925.

For Second Reading.

In the senate bills to get second reading include:

Culbertson bill, regulating the compensation of sheriffs for boarding prisoners in counties of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth districts.

Gelder bills, one validating certain deeds and mortgages of corporations, and another to quiet the title to real estate and to enable citizens of the United States and corporations authorized to hold real estate within the state to hold and convey title to real estate which formerly was held by or for corporations not authorized by law to hold same.

Schantz bill, permitting counties singly or jointly to acquire buildings for the detention of delinquent women.

Williamson bill, validating certain proceedings and elections in municipalities and other incorporated districts.

Woodward bill providing a method of ascertaining the opinion of the electors of the commonwealth as to the desirability of ratifying the proposed amendments to the constitution of the United States.

It is expected that a number of the approximately 450 bills, already introduced in both houses, will be reported out of committees for first readings tonight. Nearly one-fourth of the introduced bills have been for proposed local road projects.

and Lowellville. The Bessemer apparatus and firemen were able to be of considerable assistance, but the Lowellville firemen were unable to use their equipment by reason of the fact that connections could not be made to the water mains with the Lowellville equipment.

Volunteers from the Johnson Limestone Company attached hose to a hydrant which happened to be near the scene of the fire and did valiant work. They were assisted by scores of local residents, who formed bucket brigades.

When the assisting firemen arrived the distruction of the DiLullo properties and the Williams garage was about complete and they directed their efforts to saving the Williams home and a nearby property of the Johnson Limestone Company. These homes were badly scorched.

Save Auto

Firemen and neighbors removed the Williams automobile from the burning garage and prevented its destruction. All that was saved from the DiLullo store was the cash register, some cigars and the credit file. A chair was saved from the Joe DiLullo home.

It was early Sunday morning when the fire had been subdued.

The fire was discovered about 10 o'clock in the evening. The Joe DiLullo and S. E. LiLullo families were away from home, being in Youngstown for the evening.

The blaze was discovered by Dolphy DiLullo, who was taking care of the store, and Kenneth Gwin, when they heard a crash in the adjoining building occupied by Joe DiLullo and went out to determine the cause.

The Joe DiLullo home was locked up and this made it impossible for the firemen and neighbors to save any of the contents.

The alarm was sounded in Hillsville and soon scores of people of the district were on hand assisting in every possible way. Aid was asked of Bessemer and Lowellville and the response was speedy and really beneficial.

DIARY IS ALSO RULED OUT BY JUSTICE SEEGER

in intimate manner on some of her "boy friends" who were smitten with her charm when she was 15.

"Peaches" sat pensively at her counsel's table. On her finger was her wedding ring. At her side sat her mother, Mrs. Carolyn Heenan.

"Daddy" sat ten feet away, the busiest person in the courtroom. He took sheafs of paper from a suitcase and passed them to his lawyers, meanwhile offering them a barrage of advice.

Every seat in the courtroom was taken and scores were standing in the aisles. Most of the throng consisted of women and girls.

After the exclusion of the diary Attorney Mack offered the three letters.

The judge inquired as to who wrote the letters.

Woman of World

"The defendant wrote them, your honor," said Mack. "And they show that she is a woman of the world."

"One of them tells of a game of strip poker. They were written to a girl friend before marriage."

Epstein objected to admission of the letters on the ground that "if they were written before marriage they are immaterial to this cause."

"Anyway", he added, "what difference does it make—this man of wealth married her and he knew her well when he did".

Mack replied:

"She comes here and claims her nerves are shattered on account of her husband's treatment. If your honor persists I will show that this young woman has had a past."

Then "Peaches" broke into tears. Her mother patted her on the back consolingly. "Peaches" finally dried her tears and glared at Browning.

The court then ruled against admitting the letters.

Girl Is Called

Miss Marion Tussey was recalled to the stand and questioned by Attorney Mack.

"Did you ever tell Bondy Croner your landlord, that you saw 'Peaches' in her bedroom with a man?"

"No, I never did," said the witness with spirit.

Miss Tussey testified that Croner told her if she wanted to make some money she should testify for Browning.

Bondy Croner was then called to the stand.

"Did Miss Tussey tell you that 'Peaches' wanted her to act as a witness for her?" Mack asked.

"Yes."

"Did she ever tell you she saw 'Peaches' in a compromising position?"

"Yes, she did."

"Did Mr. Browning say he would make it interesting for Miss Tussey if she testified for him?"

"He did not."

Under cross examination by Epstein, Croner admitted he called up Browning last Saturday and told him Miss Tussey was home and ready to be subpoenaed.

"Did you get anything?"

"Yes—five dollars."

The witness admitted he got $5 on another occasion.

Present at Interview

Miss Margaret Leu, was the next witness. She said she was present at an interview between Croner and Miss Tussey.

"Did Miss Tussey say that she saw 'Peaches' in a compromising position with a man?"

"Yes," said the witness.

Under cross examination Epstein brought out that Croner paid Miss Leu $20 a month for board and lodging.

Leslie Fullenweider, a representative of the Famous Features Syndicate, was called. He told of an interview with "Peaches" in the presence of her mother.

"She told me that Mr. Browning was unbearable" Fullenweider said. "Mr. Wardell, who was present, said: 'We are not lawyers, we're just newspaper people.'"

Fullenweider said his company was after exclusive stories from "Peaches". He testified that after several visits he signed a contract for stories from "Peaches".

The witness testified that the price agreed upon for "Peaches'" own story of her experiences with Browning was $1,000.

"Peaches" didn't write the story herself, Fullenweider admitted, it was written for her. She went over the story, however, and approved it, he testified.

Charlotte Mills in Room.

The atmosphere in the courtroom was stifling, so dense was the crowd.

Charlotte Mills, a central figure in the celebrated Hall-Mills trial, sat in the jury box with reporters. Now and then she scribbled on a pad of paper. It is reported that she is "covering" the story.

"Peaches'" honeymoon diary, which his company syndicated, was written in his office, Fullenweider admitted. It was written from newspaper clippings and from postcards sent by Bronwing during his trip to the Adirondacks with "Peaches", the witness said.

He testified that "Peaches" posed for pictures to accompany the diary. He said on one occasion she didn't want to be photographed because she "wasn't feeling well".

Fullenweider was taken over for cross-examination by Epstein.

The witness admitted Browning read and approved a story syndicated under the title:

"Why I married Peaches".

"Did Browning ask you to testify that you had kissed Mrs. Browning?" Epstein asked.

"Well, Browning said to me, 'you and Peaches have engaged in osculation, haven't you?'"

"What did you say to Browning?"

"I laughed—it was so ridiculous. I hadn't kissed Mrs. Browning."

The witness said Browning left him in a huff when he said he hadn't kissed the bride.

Others to testify at the forenoon session were John S. Yarden, who wrote "Peaches'" story; Miss Belle Edwards, a waitress at Kew Gardens Inn, where the Brownings honeymooned; Frank Golden, head waiter at the inn; Edward McDonald manager of the inn; Leo Ehrenreich, friend of Browning's, and Frank Dolan, a reporter.

A recess was then taken until 1:45 p. m.

Coal Operators Fearing Strike, Start Stocking

ALTOONA, Jan. 31.—Spurred by fears of a strike among bituminous coal miners, large industrial concerns in this district are stocking up a large supply, it was indicated here today. Loadings for shipments from this district have taken a sharp drop during the past week.

Fear that miners and operators would fail to reach an agreement on a renewal of the wage agreement which ends April 1 is driving industrial concerns to fill their bins, it was believed.

Observers here look forward to total suspension of work in union mines of central Pennsylvania on April 1.

Women's New Hygiene
Ends disposal problem — Discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

THE old-time sanitary pad has been supplanted by a new and better way called KOTEX.

It ends the embarrassment of laundry and disposal. You discard Kotex as easily as tissue.

It's five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads, and thus protects amazingly. You wear sheer gowns and gay frocks under the most trying conditions.

Also deodorizes, and thus ends all fear of offending. 8 in 10 better class women now use it. Great hospitals employ it. Doctors widely urge it.

Most stores have Kotex on counters wrapped in plain paper, ready to be picked up without even asking.

Costs only a few cents for a package of 12. Be sure you get the genuine KOTEX, for only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

Solons Support Planning Board

White Ordered To Go To Court If Necessary To Protect Interests

Matthew Gunton, chairman of the city planning commission, today presented a communication to council which showed that the body had adopted a resolution asking that the city solicitor commence legal action against the Weingartner Realty company and J. Clyde Gilfillan.

The Weingartner interests owns land in the Clenmore-Wilmington avenue section, Neshannock township, Gilfillan owns Berger woods.

The communication told council that the commission had refused to approve plans offered by the concerns but the companies were selling lots.

"If we intend to stand behind zoning and the city planning commission it is time we took action" said Councilman Davies, after which Councilman Tyler presented a motion concurring in the commission's resolution which was seconded by Genkinger. Mayor Dunlap also voted favorably for the motion.

New Castle Unable To Aid Hillsville To Combat Fire

When the big fire occurred at Hillsville Saturday evening a call was received at the Central fire department here asking for assistance. As the local departments would have been of no use in that community owing to lack of water the local equipment was not sent to that place.

All that could be done was being done by the people of Hillsville and the assiting department from Bessemer. The Lowellville department sent aid but could be of no assistance owing to the lack of water at that place.

OPPOSE PENNSYLVANIAN

FAILURE of the senate to confirm Cyrus E. Woods as a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the apparent opposition to naming of Dr. Henry W. Temple are political gestures. If any state has a right to be represented there it is Pennsylvania; but the determination of rival coal states that it shall not be was sufficient to defeat an excellent nomination. No one doubts the fitness of Mr. Woods for the position, and the fear that his former personal activities might prejudice his sense of fairness was a mere subterfuge, as everyone acquainted with him knows.

As a matter of fact, the objection was not to him, and is not to Temple but to the state they come from. Several other states have no mind to be deprived of the unfair advantages they now enjoy.

NOBODY WANTS EXTRA SESSION

ALREADY rumors of an extra session of congress after March 4 are in the air. Nobody seems to want it, yet many fear it is unavoidable. So much work has piled up on the present short session, in addition to the regular appropriation bills, and the passion for long and irrelevant speeches is so insatiate, that members do not see how they are going to be able to wade through even the urgent legislation.

It may be the spectre of an extra session has been raised for the very purpose of spurring congress to be more diligent in passing bills without which the government can not carry on. Neither party desires an extra session, because neither sees any possibility of using it for its own political advantage.

There is no boubt that all necessary legislation can be put through in the working days that remain before the time fixed for adjournment, provided that hopeless measures be thrown overboard, oratory cut to the bone and a truce declared in factional warfare and personal politics.

A perfect congressional or legislative session is one in which all necessary legislation is expeditiously disposed of and a final adjournment called before law-makers arrive at the time for consideration of laws government and taxpayers can safely dispense with. But the public's impression of a typical session seems to be one in which the best part of the regular session is dissipated on building political fences, followed by a wild eleventh-hour rush to put through necessary bills.

Right now the public is convinced that an extra session this year would be a wholly superfluous luxury.

MONEY MART OF THE WORLD

STEPS being taken by the York stock exchange and international bankers from this and European countries to make practical the listing of foreign shares on the New York exchange are epochal. The move is of world-wide significance and marks a new departure in high finance.

Not the least important feature of the innovation, at least to Americans, is that it will firmly establish the position of this American financial market as the largest and most representative international market in the world. It means that within a short time American investors will be able to deal daily in the common stocks of the leading industrial, railroad and public utility corporations of every foreign country.

The fact that domestic and foreign bankers are working together to obtain favorable laws in New York state and to take other steps necessary to listing of foreign shares would indicate that the New York stock exchange finds a great demand here for foreign stocks and that foreign business is in need of American capital.

Trading in foreign stocks on an American exchange should have a salutary effect on international relations. Certain requirements must be met by the foreign corporations placing stocks on the New York exchange and American investors dealing in the foreign shares will acquaint themselves with foreign conditions. That better relations between the governments represented will follow is a foregone conclusion.

There are no cuss words in the Japanese language, but there is no gum to step on over there, anyway.

Almost anybody can write a scenario, but nobody can keep the director from making a new story of it.

Democratic National Chairman Clem Shaver is full of elation. He has announced names of eleven cities being considered for the 1928 Democratic convention, and so far none has applied for an injunction.

Just Folks

FRANK L. STANTON

Dere is weepin' down in Georgia,
All de gen'lemen are sad,
And de ladies an' de chilluns
Now is feelin' mighty bad.
An' de sunbeams seem to tip-toe
In a solemn sort o' way
Ask as if dey want to tell ye:
"Mr. Stanton died today!"

Now de cullud folks air cryin'
An' dey shake dere heads an' sigh.
Coz dey loved him as a father
An' dey hoped he'd never die.
An' dey stands before dere cabins
Wipin' sorrow's tears away
Jes' tellin' one another:
"Mr. Stanton died today!"

All de pretty blossoms know it,
An' de song birds on de fence
An' de cattle in de clover
What has happened seem to sense.
An' dere's not a tree in Georgia
Wid its mossy beard of gray
But is bendin' down to whisper:
"Mr. Stanon died today!"

Coz I know de notion's foolish
But I thought I'd lak to send
A telegram to heaven
Jes' to tell about our friend
An' it wouldn't take much writin',
This is all I'd have to say:
"A brave, sweet soul is comin'.
Mr. Stanton died today!"

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 5:12. Sun rises tomorrow 7:10.

It is the physician's misfortune to have to tell men they are going to die if they don't quit doing the things that make them happy.

If any burglar would steal a dog we owned we would never speak to the dog again or to the burglar either.

The Pennsylvania legislature will be asked to change the Sunday laws of this state. The legislature will do a wise thing when they keep hands off, except to pass more laws that will assist in enforcing the Sunday laws we now have. We are for the great American Sunday and it should not be tampered with.

A good way to test your brakes is to approach the garage at 40 miles an hour.

The United Mine Workers are going to make an effort to keep all radicals out of their organization. They will do better if they succeed in doing that. We never could see why an alleged labor leader had to be nasty. It isn't good for them sometimes when their own men get onto them. No one wants to see men who work get the worst of it.

There are people who think and some who boldly declare that the letters which have appeared in this column during the past few weeks are written in this office by us. The original "A Traveler" letter was sent to us by mail by the crook who wrote it. Copies of every letter are here to be shown any person who doubts this.

Our readers will perhaps remember that we told them some days ago that a lady called us at our home one evening and asked us if New Castle had official colors. We printed this in this column and thought perhaps the information could be gotten that way. This lady called us again a few nights ago and in a tearful voice told us she thought she had gotten us into a peck of trouble trying to do her a favor. We told her not to worry as we were able to take care of ourselves. However, we have not as yet found out if there are any official colors or whether an effort is being made to get some that would be satisfactory to the real citizens of this city.

Browning claims Peaches was a worldly character before he married her. If she was not then she is now and has some to spare.

Employes of a wildcat brewery in Chicago were paid wages amounting from $75 to $300 a week. They got wildcat wages also it seems.

Farmers are leaving the farms by the thousands every year and there are now two consumers to every producer. Farmers are the producers. Some day getting things to eat in the cities will be impossible at any price if this keeps up. That day will mean city people will go back to longer hours and less pay or starve.

There has been a lot of speculation as to who "A Traveler" is. We have our doubts of his being a traveling man at all. We have received quite a few anonymous letters from this bird and at one time a secret service man came near getting him when he dropped a piece of mail to us. He is some local hard shell who is sour at the world and is against everything and probably against himself. One thing is sure, he is afraid to make his identity known to the writer. We will agree to even pay his doctor bills if he does.

When all other reasons for a bad fire are exhausted there is still left the cigarette butt.

It is claimed that the Charleston causes flat feet. No doubt it also causes flat heads.

A man in New York state who has been married 50 years thinks the government should give men who are married that long a pension. It seems to us if a man is married that long and still lives he should be glad he is living. Very few men live to be married 50 years to one wife.

Faces that are too long can be shortened by laughter and sunshine.

AN ACT

Punishing the sending of anonymous communications of a libelous, defamatory, scurrilous or approbious nature.

Section 1. Be is enacted, etc., that every person who, without appending his or her proper signature thereto, shall send or cause to be sent to another any written or printed communication or matter, the nature of which is either libelous, defamatory, scurrilous or approbious shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than five hundred dollars and undergo an imprisonment of not more than one year

One of the most wonderful musical organizations in the world will give a concert in the Scottish Rite cathedral on Feb. 10. We have a few tickets in The News office for sale. We have an idea the tickets are going to be scarce on the day of the concert. There will be only 3,000 tickets sold, so get yours while it is still time to get them.

A Chicago man wants a divorce from his wife because she did not get him a necktie for a Christmas present. Now, if he was trying to get a divorce because his wife bought him one, we could be for him. The brute!

There are men who are very popular when they are first elected to public office. Then after they are on the job awhile there are people who regret they voted for those chaps. This comes from not using the head before elections and it is too late when it is found the men elected are not fitted for the job. Of course they can be swatted when they come up again, but sometimes it's really too long to wait.

After thinking the matter over carefully we have decided to run this column ourselves. We have been doing it for over a quarter of a century and we think we can do it to at least please ourselves. We have an idea if some ran it who think they are some potatoes, there would be nothing left of the whole paper in a short time, and then New Castle would have no newspaper at all.

The News has the lowest advertising rate in the United States.

All the baseball players who were charged with being crooks have been put back into good standing but some of the clubs will not take the men back who were charged with being shady. The past racket should be the means of warning those who are thinking of pulling off bum stuff next season.

This would be a great old world if people's babies, generally speaking, were as easy to put to sleep as their consciences are.

Queen Marie says she is going to write a book of fairy tales to be sold in this country. Evidently she has sized us up about right.

A survey shows that there are 30,000 crooks in Chicago. And that crook population gets the city more publicity than the three million or more decent and honest people who live there.

If you go to a dance in Ireland you must dance, as regulations prevent you from sitting out the dances, as is popular with some in this country. We don't know what such a rule as that need be made; the evil of dancing, as we understand it, comes from dancing and not from sitting on a chair or bench. But then, if we were in Ireland we would do as the Irish do.

If money was just as hard to get as rheumatism is hard to get rid of nobody would want it.

What Congress may have in mind is relief for the grandchildren of the present farmer.

A good many American boys are playing marbles now and if there is any one thing that proves that spring is coming that is it. After marbles comes baseball and it is summer.

A bill has been introduced into the Assembly that would prohibit the carrying of funny signs on automobiles. Now is some practical method could be devised to keep the funny people from driving cars all would be well.

We have heard many times of people who are classed as the world's greatest lover, but never have we heard of one of them becoming the world's greatest husband. Why is it?

About the only thing left to do in the way of prison reform is to install an overstuffed electric chair.

Why all the kick about the dirt of New Castle, as some of the more fastidious travelers have? We like it ourself, for it is what might be termed "pay dirt".

It isn't a bit too early to begin to think about the Hints and Dints baby family that grows each year on March 12. As usual, The News will have $5.00 in gold to start a bank account for each youngster that comes on that day. The limit, of course, is Lawrence county. With one being born every minute, as Barnum once said, the world at large is too big a territory for us.

A Florida newspaper boasts that it is omitting all the sordid details of the Browning case out of its columns for sanitary reasons. The people of Florida must be getting suddenly high-hat for a paper to take such a stand as this.

Even though fired from their regular teams, Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker are two men who won't have to worry about getting jobs for next summer. And it is likely they will have something to say about their own salaries.

Perhaps it was prophecy more than blunder that made a department advertise "Men's Skirts at half price". If the skirt is to be retained in American life it will have to be the men who preserve it.

The 1928 convention and nomination, so far as the Democrats are concerned, is starting already. McAdoo, from out of the west, tells eastern lawyers that the efforts of individual states to set aside prohibition laws means embarking on the slippery side of anarchy.

This, of course, is aimed at New York's wetness, with Governor Smith presiding over it.

McAdoo even says that the effect to modify the Volstead law is "a concerted advance upon the national government by the forces which since the days of Tweed and Croker, have been mainly responsible for selling protection against the law to crime and criminals." It look like a fight.

"Them is harsh words," as the fish-wife said when the philosopher called her "an isosceles parallelepipedon."

Cyrus H. K. Curtis, paper says Baruch and Chadbourne, who were the big fighting men in the McAdoo camp of 1924 have moved over to the governor's camp and are for him now. Baruch and Chadbourne know a good deal about political management and are entitled to front seats on the Governor Smith wagon.

Lady Rhondda, British business woman, said, "existence of the leisured woman constitutes a grave menace to civilization," but it really doesn't. Eve, a "leisured woman", might have kept out of mischief, with a sewing machine or typewriter to keep her busy. Her descendants have done fairly well however.

A woman must have twenty-five years of study and leisure, then twenty years to produce and bring up children. The rest of her life should include leisure to inspire men with ambitious energy. Women ought not to work, only create and inspire dull male worker.

It may comfort you to know that there is prosperity somewhere. New York's Park avenue association says that street leads the world for "concentrated private buying power." A prosperous little group living in Park avenue has $280,000,000 to spend on luxuries, on things pleasant, but not necessary. The average annual income in that modern canyon of fashion and wealth is $75,000. Where money is, business goes.

Franklin Simon of New York, a merchant who knows business, has said that Park avenue, before long, will be one of the greatest retail streets in the whole world. You might buy yourself a lot there.

Russian population is increasing and Russia means to keep the new young Russians, not offer them up to any warlike Moloch or Asiatic minotaur.

Russia, under the czar, had 182,000,000 population. Twenty-five per cent of that was lost when the war took Poland and the Balkan countries. Russian's population, then cut to 135,000,000 has already come up to 165,000,000.

China, India and Russia now lead the world in population. China's official figure, 400,000,000 does not include men too old and babies too young to pay taxes. The actual population probably 500,000,000. And that population is waking up.

John F. Stevens, who has been honored with the presidency of the American Society of Civil Engineers, is one of the best known members of the engineering profession in America. He was first chief engineer of the Panama Canal, and among his other distinctions discovered the Marias Pass to the Rocky Mountains while working for the Great Northern Railway. Mr. Stevens is a native of Maine, but much of his life has been spent in the western regions of the United States and Canada. From 1876 down to the time when he went to Panama in 1905, he served as assistant or chief engineer of railroad after railroad, during the period of their construction and first operation. The famous Cascade tunnel was built under his direction. In 1918 he supervised the railroads of Siberia and Manchuria, where territory was occupied by allied troops. He has received decorations from France, Czecho-Slovakia, China, Japan and other countries.

ROYAL APPETITES

It is as hard for a king as for a commoner to diet.

The excitement about Ferdinand's relapse is said, by latest reports, to have been caused by His Royal Highness eating too much carp.

His favorite dish is carp baked in the Roumanian style and he indulged himself against his physician's advice.

Royal appetites are as hard to govern as any other. Moreover they are beset by greater temptations than are common cravings.

Henry The First of England died from indigestion and fever brought on by eating lamprey, a fish against which he had been warned by his doctor.

Napoleon, after six years' exile in the dilapidated one-story house that had once been a cow shed on his prison island of St. Helena, died of indigestion brought on by eating food he had been warned to avoid.

Frederick The Great owed most of his sick spells to stuffing himself with eel pie.

Hadrain wished the words enscribed over his tomb:

"A multitude of physicians have destroyed me."

Although he did not mention it, it is highly probable that a multitude of dishes delivered him into the physicians' hands.

When the Emperor Charles The Fifth died, it was said that he had brought on his own death by his habit of overeating.

History records the remark of one of his attendants who said at the time:

"Kings seem to think that their stomachs are not made like other men's"

Kingly authority over others will not help when health depends upon right diet unless there is also authority over self.

Only will-power keeps a person on the straight road of diet, and unless a king has self-control he feels all the aches and pains that common flesh is heir to.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

NO VILLAGE BLACKSMITH—NO CHESTNUT TREE.

Is there a chestnut tree left in Lawrence County? I think not. I have found no one in Lawrence County, or the State of Pennsylvania who has seen a live chestnut tree within the borders of the State for more than five years. There are probably no live chestnut trees now in the United States East of the Mississippi River. About fifteen years ago a devastating blight of chestnut trees started in New England and notwithstanding the efforts put forth by the most intelligent of foresters, this blight spread West rapidly. A year after it started, the forests of the Eastern states presented in the Summer time a curious sight. Among the green tree tops here and there all over the woods were the dead tops of great chestnuts. No other trees suffered. Remedies of every sort were tried, but to no avail. State Commissions were appointed to study the situation, and to make an attempt at saving the remaining few of the hardier trees, but gradually they died, to the very last tree.

I say "to the very last tree," but this year there has been found in the state of New Jersey, one sole living specimen, on the property of Stephen Terhune, near West Milford, Hunterdon County. The tree is about 50 feet high, and three feet in diameter, and is believed to be one hundred fifty years old. The bark was badly damaged by the blight, but never died on one side of the tree. One quarter of the crown of the tree is left bearing leaves and chestnuts. The rest of it, it is said, is slowly recovering, yielding a larger crop each year. The chestnuts from this tree are now being carefully harvested, and it is planned to plant them next year in an attempt to revive the chestnut forests, on the theory that the chestnuts which this tree bears may have become immune from further blight, having resisted it so long and survived.

Those who on cold winter days have in times past, delighted to stop at the stand of the chestnut vendor and have his pockets filled with the hot steaming roasted nuts, have no doubt wondered why so few vendors are to be found in the city streets today. When one is found, he will usually have the big ones, which come from Italy. He may have a few small ones of the old variety, but he can not tell you from where they come,—as one Italian vendor said recently, "mebbe from Californ'." But California has no chestnut trees. There are few trees still left West of the Mississippi and East of the Rockys.

The Village Blacksmith, and the Spreading Boughs of the Chestnut Tree may have passed together with the coming of the motor car.

POEMS I LOVE

BY CHARLES HANSON TOWNE

By CHARLES HANSON TOWNE.

"A Portrait" by Caroline Duer.

Miss Duer and her sister, now Alice Duer Miller, published a volume of poems some years ago which met with considerable success. But of late they have been silent, when it comes to verse. It is not always possible to convey in words a picture of a human being's outward aspect; and it is even more difficult obviously—that being the writer's serious business—to give a sense of a certain person's felings and mental characteristics. In lines like these, penetratingly and cleverly analytical, Miss Duer does create a picture most sucessfully. One comes to know this man, actually to see him; and the last searching line is the final stroke in a perfect portrait.

A man more kindly, in his careless way,
Than many who profess a higher creed;
Whose fickle love might change from day to day,
And yet be faithful to a friend in need;
Whose manners covered, through life's outs and ins,
Like charity a multitude of sins.

A man of honor, too, as such things go;
Discreet and secret—qualities of use—
Selfish, but not self-conscious, generous, slow
To anger, but most ready in excuse
His wit and cleverness consisted not
So much in what he said as what he got.

His principles one might not quite commend,
And they were much too simple to mistake;
Never to turn his back upon a friend,
Never to lie, but for a woman's sake,
To take the sweets that came within his way,
And pay the price if there were price to pay.

Idle, good looking, negatively wise,
Lazy in action, plausible in speech.
Favor he found in many woman's eyes,
And valued most that which was hard to reach.
Few are both true and tender and he grew,
In time a little tenderer than true.

Knowing much evil half-regretting good,
As we regret a childish impulse lost
Wearied with knowledge best not understood
Bored with the disenchantment that it cost;
But in conclusion, with no failings hid;
A gentleman no matter what he did.

Minstrel Show To Be Presented Here This Evening

Colored Legion Plans For Evening Of Unusual Entertainment

As an additional feature of the Minstrel show that is to be given by the Colored American Legion Post at the Germania hall tonight at 8:30 o'clock, the two little Jobs sisters will show how to dance the real Charleston. Eleanore and Massetta Jobs of 7 and 12 years will be the star performers.

Other features of interest are the Charleston as danced by Dinnah in the afterpiece "Eph's Return" in which all shall join in a grand clog dance, the regular old "Buck and Wing" dance, then the grand finale is a baritone solo, "Big Parade" sung by Dorsey King.

The color scheme in the costumes will be most impressive. The extreme end men will be dressed in blue and white silk stripes, the other two end men will be adorned in stripes of black and yellow while the circle men will have red full dress with white vests. The interlocutor will have a suit of white and gold lace.

Dressed thus the Twenty Century Minstrels will give a evening of mirth and song the like of which is seldom witnessed.

Leading Moros

Although press dispatches say Princess Terhata Karam (latest photo above) has been leading a band of armed Moros against Philippine constabulary, her American college friends refuse to believe the former University of Illinois co-ed has "reverted to type." They contend she is either the victim of a political hoax or has been forced into the role of a harem wife and princess militant by a childhood betrothal to Datu Tahil, Moro dignitary, whose fourth spouse she is reported to be.

Sudden Death Of Workman At Camp Of Carey Company

Fall Through Coal Car May Have Had Something To Do With Death

Joseph Vuika, aged about 50 years, residence unknown, died at Moravia Sunday afternoon, following a brief illness. Vuika was employed by the John F. Carey Construction Company, unloading coal cars at Moravia.

On Friday he fell through the bottom of a coal car, but apparently was not injured and he went to work again, working Friday afternoon and Saturday.

Sunday when he was taken ill, a physician was summoned as it was thought that he might have been injured by the fall. The physician, however, could find no marks or injuries, and upon a diagnosis of the case found that Vuika was suffering from a strangulated hernia, as the result of a rupture about twenty years ago.

Peritinis had developed which in the opinion of the physician had caused death. The construction company is making an effort to locate relatives of the man, if he has any, but so far have been unsuccessful. He was sent out here from an employment bureau in Pittsburgh, and it is claimed had told fellow workmen that he did not have any relatives.

GRAND MASTER VISITS LODGE

Grand Marshal Also Guest At I. O. O. F. Meeting On Saturday Night

John N. Mark of Oil City, grand master of Pennsylvania for the I. O. O. F. and Grand Marshal Reed were guests of honor Saturday evening at an open meeting of New Castle lodge No. 195 held in the I. O. O. F. hall on North Mill street. There were several hundred people in attendance and the affair proved one of the most successful of such events in the history of the organization.

Messrs. Mark and Reed and their wives were guests of the reception committee of the New Castle lodge at a dinner held earlier in the evening at the Elks' home.

The open meeting was held at 8 p. m. T here were addresses by Grand Master John N. Mark and Grand Marshal Reed and an interesting program of music and readings provided by the entertainment committee of the evening.

At the close of the evening, refreshments were served by the committee in charge to all those in attendance.

The address of the grand master was on Odd Fellowism and proved most interesting, more especially as the grand master is the product of an orphan home of the order and has worked his way to the highest position in the order in Pennsylvania and knows from actual experience what the order is able to do.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

Declare Death Of Girl Is Suicide

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Brooding over repeated rebukes from her sister for her love of Broadway life, Marion Hunt, 20, pretty cloak model, shot herself. This is the final theory of police, following the discovery today at an autopsy that the bullet wound in the girl's head was self-inflicted, and not the work of a murderer.

Medical examiners also declared the girl had been drinking shortly before her death.

Marion's mother, Mrs. Catherine Hunt of Port Chester, shared the police theory, and recalled her daughter had attempted to take her own life a year ago because her parent tried to restrain her feverish pursuit of gayety.

According to the mother, the girl stole the revolver with which she killed herself from a sweetheart in Philadelphia, whom she visited recently.

Rheumatism the enemy of advancing years

HAD SUFFERED FOR YEARS WITH RHEUMATISM

Tried many remedies—Simple home treatment brought relief

A sufferer from acute rheumatism for many years, a Winchester, N. H., man at last found that he could always get rid of the pain, and relieve the swelling and stiffness by a simple home treatment.

"After trying various remedies," he writes, "Sloan's Liniment was recommended to me, and it stopped the pain."

What is the reason for these remarkable results?

Simply that Sloan's doesn't just deaden the nerves. It stirs up your own forces to get rid of the conditions that are causing the pain.

Apply lightly without rubbing, and at once you'll feel the comforting warmth as fresh, healing blood begins circulating through the affected spot. The stiff, swollen tissues relax, the inflammation goes down, the pain stops, and soon you feel normal again. Get a bottle today and have it on hand. All druggists—35 cents.

Blame Bad Morals On Smoke And Soot

(International News Service)

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 31.—"Smoke and soot bring bad morals to people who are forced to breathe them. The percentage of murders and other crimes is higher in notoriously smoky cities."

This is the opinion of Claude A. Campbell, Toledo banker who has made a private study of the smoke conditions in large cities. Cities which take the situation in hand and pass suitable ordinances to prevent a smoky atmosphere will have less crime than others who fail to take such precautions he believes.

An average resident of an average American city breathes more than five times his weight in soot and dirt during the course of a year Campbell estimates. This condition is largely responsible for the prevalence of pneumonia in cities he says.

Seven hundred tons of soot settle to a square mile in Cleveland yearly Campbell declares. The annual loss in that city caused by the smoke nuisance is about $6,000,000 while in Pittsburgh it is approximately $10,000,000.

The new night watchman at the observatory was watching some one using the big telescope. Just then a star fell.

"Begorra" he said to himself, "that fella sure is a crack shot."

Piles Disappear

No Cutting Or Salves Needed

External treatments seldom banish Piles and for the very good reason that the cause is inside—bad circulation in affected parts, veins are flabby and bowel walls weakened.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membranes. Internal treatment is one safe method. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and it has proven successful in thousands of cases—so successful that now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists under a money back guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at McKee's Kut Rate Store, Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., who will promptly refund the purchase price if you are dissatisfied.

Under certain conditions, living quarters, food, clothing, etc., provided employees are not regarded as income. Where, for example, because of the location and nature of the work it is necessary that employees engaged in fishing, logging, or canning be furnished board and lodging by their employer, such board and lodging are considered as contributed for the convenience of the employer. Therefore, their value need not be included in computing the net income of the employee. The rule applies to board and lodging furnished seamen.

The value of board and lodging furnished hospital employees is to be returned as income unless the employee is subject to duty at any time during the 24 hours of a day and therefore is required to accept quarters and meals at the hospital in addition to his regular compensation.

The rental value of a dwelling "and appurtenances thereof" furnished a minister of the gospel is exempt from income tax.

The value of quarters furnished army and navy officers, members of the Coast Guard, the Coast and Geodetic Survey, and Public Health Service, or amounts received as commutation of quarters by such officers or members, do not constitute taxable income.

Large Crowd Is Indicated For Concert Here

Seat Sale For Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra Reveals Interest

All indications point to a capacity crowd for the grand opening concert by the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 10.

Reservations opened last Saturday at four p. m. and for the first hour four agents were kept hustling to keep the crowd moving. Welty O. Rugh, treasurer of the Minneapolis concert committee, was surprised and pleased with the showing of the first day. Approximately 300 seats were reserved on Saturday, and if this keeps up there will be few, if any, reserved seats left by Saturday of this week, for there are about 1,000 seats in the second balcony which are not being put on reserve.

These seats are being sold at $1 each and the holder of one of these tickets is entitled to take any seat that is open when he comes.

Reservations will continue this week from four to eight p. m., as announced, and those who are anxious to hear the first big concert ever held in one of America's finest auditoriums will make it a point to make their reservations without delay.

Two girls narrowly escaped death and 17 families were driven from their homes by one of the fires.

OUTSIDERS GIVES VIEWS ON NEW CASTLE

completed. Ground will be broken in April for a new imposing bank building on the main street. You can have the best the world affords in music, entertainment and amusement in the Scottish Rite Cathedral recently completed and costing a million and a half dollars. Two new college buildings will be started at New Wilmington at once. These privileges are advantages to the City's guests as well as to yourselves.

It is of our culture that we boast, but it is our business that makes our culture possible.

Prosperity is where business is, and business is where there is buying and selling, as everyone knows. Prosperity may refuse to stay perched upon the most high exalted pinnacle but that need not be cause for sudden and widespread alarm. The economic causes that affect buying and selling whether in New Castle or elsewhere cannot be regulated all at once.

Your basic industry is blacksmithery, and it is undoubtedly sound here. The tin plate mill is up to 100 per cent production practically. The investment for improvements in the steel plant assures a future of considerable production, apparently. Various other important industries are forging ahead rapidly enough. An effort needs to be made constantly in every city to keep up business and is being made here under the supervision of a group of capable and earnest men.

The most significant fact, however, in this community is the awakening of a consciousness of the welfare of the whole community. New Castle has placed itself definitely in line with a development that is taking place all over the United States. It marks a higher stage in our civilization.

New Castle is on the up-grade to an economic and cultural position in Western Pennsylvania of great importance. I am as certain of it as that I stand here talking to you. We cannot see what it shall be as yet, but New Castle will not retreat. The City is more solidly united in every effort for community welfare than most cities of its size.

Only one thing is essential—that the people of New Castle stand together and fail not in finishing the tasks they have begun.

Let us be fair enough to appreciate the fact that New Castle would not have the advantages and privileges to which I have referred unless someone had conceived them and others had labored to produce them.

While Jim Jones and I are finding fault with Joe Smith, this same Joe Smith is building a beautiful home for persons like up in moderate circumstances which we may enjoy by making easy monthly payments giving us such comfort and luxury as neither Caesar nor Napoleon could have.

The simplest test for human intelligence in measuring the value of community interests is to try and picture the community without them. Imagine New Castle without a Chamber of Commerce. It could not have a future. Consider it without its hospitals. The City might as well cut its own throat. And New Castle can well be proud that it has an auditorium where a symphony orchestra can be heard by over three thousand persons.

There are two phases of community interest. One has self interest as its aim, the other unselfish interest. The first may be illustrated by the functioning of a Chamber of Commerce, the second by giving to provide a hospital, to sustain your charities, or a new building to house the New Castle Library adequately.

A Chamber of Commerce, as intelligent people admit, is the business interests of the community banded together for mutual advantage. But this object cannot be attained by any Chamber of Commerce that ignores the unselfish side of the community's welfare, and it not only does not ignore it, it works for it. It would have double its present membership in New Castle if the people of New Castle appreciated the opportunity it affords them.

New Castle can well afford to ignore irresponsible criticism from outsiders, but it cannot afford to ignore its opportunities in completing the tasks already begun and in taking up new ones. For this, continued effort is required larger financial support for the community chest, the completion of the financing of the new Cathedral, sustained moral backing of the new hotel, and other enterprises, but particularly along industrial and commercial lines. I give one illustration. One hears the community chest disparged. Look around. Not two per cent of the cities that have adopted the community chest plan are giving it up to go back to the old confusion, and scores more cities are adopting it every year. To fail is to fail, but New Castle will not fail.

Let me repeat briefly. What is happening to New Castle is happening to other cities of its class and size. New Castle is going forward because the whole country is going forward under the impetus of the surplus wealth that has been created, and because of the advance of civilization that is taking place.

Mr. Jameson's magnificent gift of a new hospital not only benefits the unfortunate, it is a gift to the advancement of civilization in New Castle.

No community will need to be reckoned with, except by the future historian, that is not in line with the wave of building-up that is sweeping America today. And the extent of the practical altruism in every community is to a large degree the measure of this progress.

My mind is not given to abstractions of allegories, Mr. Rentz. New Castle is not a fair damsel, nor a doughty, mucle-bound warrior, nor a ghost called "civic consciousness."

It is you, and me for the time being, and the other fellow, and all the people of New Castle working together for the good of New Castle in agreement even where we disagree.

We must work for the City's spiritual welfare and for its financial, industrial and commercial importance. The City's hospitals and charities, the hotel, Cathedral and library, and Westminster College now sorely in need—all these and more are community interests and cannot be disassociated from each other in the welfare of the people of New Castle and Lawrence County.

To this progress of New Castle, similar to what is happening everywhere in the reconstruction of America, Catholic, Prostestant and Jew, Republican, Democrat and Socialist, capitalist, mechanic and merchant, all who call New Castle "home," must contribute, and New Castle will come out of the changing era most likely with advantages beyond those of many cities of its class.

Hope deferred maketh the heart sick but more desolate is the heart that has no hope. And such is he who will not serve a cause.

If New Castle does not go forward, Mr. Rentz, it will not be because the fair damsel is shackled or the lance of the doughty warrior broken or the ghost of civic consciousness fled or for any other fanciful reason. It will be because the people of New Castle have failed to realize their opportunities in working together for the common good, or because the few have fallen by the wayside ere the task is done weary of the burden of the effort to benefit the many who will not help.

There, Mr. Rentz, is the pro side. You and I are on the pro side. Let the Antis who are on the con side vote for whom they like.

Arise Ye!——and go Pro.
Sincerely yours,
M. D. SHELLEY.

New Castle, Pa. does not deny its boys and girls the opportunity to hear great artists whenever possible. Why? Merely because New Castle has a non profit-seeking organization back of this type of community work.

Do commercial promoters and managers afford any such opportunities for the young people of cities where they operate? The answer is quite apparent from the above schedule of one great artist at least.

Allow the professional managers to come in to New Castle and run its concerts and then notice the prices of season tickets go up, the free concerts cease, and the ten per cent tax start again.

So support a home city enterprise if you want to continue.

No New Castle Calls For England As Yet

While it is now possible to talk from New Castle to England over the telephone, service between Pennsylvania and Britain having been inaugurated on Saturday, no calls have as yet been placed from New Castle.

A number were placed from Pittsburgh on Saturday.

The cost of telephoning from New Castle to England is about the same as from New York to England, according to local telephone company officials.

Concerning the inauguration of service between Pennsylvania and Great Britain, the following is of interest:

Trans-Atlantic telephone service between Pennsylvania and New Jersey and Britain was successfully inaugurated on Saturday morning, January 29, when Leonard H. Kinnard, president of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania and associated companies, and Dr. Josiah H. Penniman, provost of the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, talked with H. E. Shreeve and Lord Dawson, private physician to the king in the town of Penn, Buckinghamshire, England. Mr. Shreeve, who represents the American Telephone & Telegraph company in Europe, was the first man to have heard the voice carried across the Atlantic in experimental tests made in 1915.

At 9:15 greetings were exchanged between these men, separated by more than 3,000 miles. These voices were carried over a circuit of wire and ether approximately 7,250 miles long. Lady Dawson and Lady Sybil, her daughter, also talked with Dr. Penniman and Mr. Kinnard.

The reception at both sides of the Atlantic ocean was as clear and distinct as an ordinary local call. After the brief ceremonies the circuits were turned over to commercial use.

Law Desired To Free Money For Loans To War Veterans

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Just before the first big batch of adjusted service certificates became available to ex-soldiers as security for loans they might want to raise, a few weeks ago, the Veterans' Bureau issued a statement hoping mighty few of the certificates' holders would use them that way.

Today Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of that same Veterans' Bureau, is pushing a bill in congress to enable the bureau itself to make loans on the certificates to ex-soldiers.

The bureau's original idea was all right. The certificates are equivalent to life insurance policies which will automatically pay themselves up in 20 years. Gen. Hines thought it would be better for the veterans to get a sizeable lump of money apiece at the end of 20 years with protection for their families in the meantime, than to fritter their messes of pottage away as they went along by continual borrowing, as fast as their value increased.

But it didn't occur to him that the veteran who really needs money right now wouldn't be able to raise it on his certificate.

This is exactly the case, however.

The national legislators who thought up the adjusted service certificate idea had this thought also:

"If veterans can borrow on these certificates on any terms that speculators offer to them, they'll be gobbled up by sharks to the tune of millions of dollars' worth, and the vets will get precious little out of them."

So it was provided that only regular organized banks and trust companies could make loans and even these only on strictly regulated conditions.

The purpose of these precautions was to protect the veterans, but they involved so much red tape that they made an adjusted service certificate rather a difficult, complicated security to advance money on.

Another thing, a certificate's present loan value is comparatively small. The certificate, backed by the government, is the safest collateral imaginable, but it's a chicken feed transaction, which it isn't worth the average bank's while to bother with.

The borrower on a certificate must be identified to a dead certainty, too. He must convince the bank that it really is his certificate. Otherwise, in case he doesn't pay, the bank can't get its money from the government on it.

The result is that most banks consider a loan on an adjusted service certificate more bother than the few dollars' interest on it pays them for.

It's a class of business that few of them care to engage in, except as a favor to regular customers. The veteran who's a regular customer of a bank isn't apt to be the one who's in urgent need of a small loan. Rather, the would-be borrower usually is hard up and without any banking connection.

So the certificate holder who can get a loan doesn't want one and the one who wants one can't get it.

Thus far only about one bank or trust company in 20, which is authorized to make loans on the certificates, has made any.

The government's precautions not only work. They work too well.

Some veterans need money now. It's admitted at the Veterans' Bureau that it's small consolation to an ex-service man to know that he'll have a comfortable bank roll coming to him in the future if he starves to death in the present.

There'll be no relaxation of restrictions on the banks and trust companies but it's likely things will be fixed so the bureau can make loans to veterans who can't get them elsewhere.

IS THERE NO RELIEF FROM SKIN TORTURE?

Must I Continue to Suffer the Unbearable Itching?

Are you one of those unfortunates who are going through life suffering with a skin disease, making you uncomfortable, making you less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep? You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S. S. S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in many forms of skin disease. Thousands of letters of gratitude prove its worth.

"I feel so happy for what S. S. S. has done for me that I want others to know about it. I suffered twenty long years from eczema. At times the itching was unbearable. During that time, I used all kinds of salves without receiving any real benefit. After taking six bottles of S. S. S., I was cured of this dreadful disease. I recommend S. S. S. to anyone suffering from eczema, because I cannot praise it enough for what it has done for me." Cleophas Forte, Soldiers and Sailors Home, Quincy, Ill.

S. S. S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Bills Provide For Pension Increases

Congress To Act On Measures To Increase Pensions Of Widows Of District

By GEORGE H. MANNING
(Washington Correspondent of The New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 31.—Mrs. Sarah J. Somers, 406 Centennial street, New Castle, Pa., would be granted an increase of pension from $30 to $50 a month, under the terms of the omnibus pension bill just passed by the House of Representatives, and now before the Senate

Mrs. Somers, aged 74 years, is the widow of the late James L. Somers, alias Saxton, who served as a private in Company E, Twentieth Regiment of Pennsylvania Cavalry, from June 27, to August 11, 1863, and in Company C, First Regiment Pennsylvania Provisional Cavalry, from January 8, 1864, to July 13, 1865. The Civil War Veteran died October 26, 1910.

Mrs. Somers married the veteran soldier on July 4, 1899. She has already been granted a pension of $30, but under existing laws, she cannot have her pension increased to $50 except by special act of Congress, since the law allows only such increased pensions to widows of veterans who were married to the veterans during their service in the Civil War.

A bill to increase the pension of Mrs. Somers was introduced by Congressman Phillips of Butler. The omnibus bill is made up of a large number of such private bills, and is the largest omnibus pension bill ever reported by the Committee. It contains nearly 1,400 names. In reporting the measure, the Committee announced that this would be the only omnibus pension bill drafted this session, and that only the names of those veterans, widows and dependents who were so helpless as to require constant aid and attention were included.

The bill also provides for placing on the pension rolls at $30 a month the name of Mrs. Mary E. Rhodes, aged 68, of 451 East Washington street, Rochester, Pa. She is the widow of Henry L. H. Rhodes, who was a private in Company B, 134th Regiment Pennsylvania Infantry during the Civil War, and who died February 10, 1924.

Increases of pension from $30 to $50 a month also is carried in the bill for Margaret Hogan, aged 87, and Elvirda L. Lightner, aged 79, both of Slippery Rock, Butler County, Pa.

Mrs. Hogan is the widow of John Hogan, late a private in Company E., 91st New York Infantry, who died October 27, 1898. Mrs. Lightner is the widow of Hezekiah Lightner, who was a private in Company F, 57th Pennsylvania Infantry during the Civil War, and who died in 1906.

Victor Clark of Beaver Falls is named in the bill for a pension of $20 a month. He is a helpless and dependent son of Robert A. Clark of the 34th Pennsylvania Infantry.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all know drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory disease, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Snails May Soon Become Dish For American Table

(International News Service)

BERKELEY, Cal., Jan. 31.—Water chestnuts, bamboo shoots, Foo Kwa and dried duck, the delights of Chinese epicures, are just as nutritious as table favorites in the United States, Miss Asta Ohn, University of California graduate, has determined after careful analysis.

Reporting upon the nutritive value of oriental foods, Miss Ohn said the most striking difference in the composition of food in the Orient and in this country was the absence of dairy products, milk, cheese and butter, in the Far Eastern diet.

Rice, sweet potatoes and taro replace cereals and the Irish potato in the Orient and duck and other fowls are eaten more than beef or mutton, she reported.

Oriental methods of food preparation and preservation perserve the vitamin and mineral content of the foods, the report indicated. Miss Ohn closed her extensive survey with the hope that "each country will supplement its diet by adding articles of food from other lands."

"Have you had your snails and bamboo shoots today?" may soon confront the reader on every hand.

Offenders in county court were for larceny, abandonment and statutory offenses, in the order named. In city court the largest number of convictions were for non-support, closely ranked by petit larceny and intoxication.

Count Bethlen To See Italian King About Mussolini

(International News Service)

BUDAPEST, Jan. 31—When Premier Count Bethlen, visits Mussolini in Rome at the end of February, it is believed the object of his journey will be the choice of an Hungarian king.

The two dictators have been in close touch for several months, especially since the last league council meeting at Geneva.

The ostensible cause of the visit is a discussion on the question of a free port for Hungary on the Adriatic and a number of other commercial questions. The actual cause is a solution of Hungary's monarchical question, which the Little Entente's post-war political manoeuvres have placed for an absolute decision in the hands of Count Bethlen.

The general expectation is that Count Bethlen intends to place the Hapsburg Archduke Albrecht on the Hungary throne, with some Italian princess as queen, thus cementing the friendship between the two countries.

Russian Shepherds Go On Strike, Fear Devil As Eagle

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, Jan. 31.—Shepherds in the neighborhood of Machach-Kala, in Central Soviet Asia, have gone on strike, declaring that the devil appearing in the form of a gigantic eagle has made their profession hazardous.

They report that in the course of a few days the eagle killed forty-two sheep, carrying off the younger victims. The mountain eagles in the vicinity of Machach-Kala are noted for their size and ferocity. In this instance the shepherds were not intimidated by the great bird that they feared to come to the assistance of their flocks.

Population Of Pennsylvania Near 10,000,000

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 — If the United States keeps up its present rate of growth, the country will have a population of well over 226,500,000 in the year 2,000.

This estimate was based upon the announcement today by the Bureau of the Census, that by July 1, the population will have passed 118,628,000, a gain of 1,492,000 in a year and 12,918,000 since 1920.

The Census Bureau's estimate gave the population of each state except those which had showed a decrease between 1910 and 1920, or from 1920 to 1925.

Pennsylvania gained 1,109,993 in population between 1920 and 1927. New York increased 1,037,773 in the same period and California, 1,006,139. New York led in population with 11,423,000, followed by Pennsylvania with 9,730,000.

In order to support the vast future population Secretary of Commerce Hoover believes that great progress must be made in the better utilization of raw materials, elimination of industrial waste, development of water and power resources, in science and other fields, that living standards may be maintained. He believes that the progress of scientific and industrial achievement will so increase productivity that living standards not only will be maintained but greatly improved with the growth of the nation.

Shipbuilding In Yards Of U. S. Is On Up-Grade

For First Time In Three Years Commerce Figures Show Increase

Vessels In Construction At End Of 1926 Showed Gain Of 83,000 Tons

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Shipbuilding, for the first time since 1924, apparently is on the upgrade, according to the Commerce department.

For the first time in three years an increase in world shipbuilding was shown by returns from all maritime countries for the quarter ending December 31.

On that date gross tonnage of vessels under construction totaled 1,933,027 tons, an increase of more than 83,000 tons as compared with the end of the preceding quarter.

"No other quarter since that ending June 30, 1924, has shown a gain over the preceding period, but in comparison with the 1924 figure the present total marks a decline of more than 500,000 tons," the statement said.

Several changes occurred in the ranking of the various countries during the quarter under survey. Although the total for Great Britain and Ireland showed a small decline, these countries now hold first place by a margin of over a half million tons.

Italy ranked next, also showing a decline from its figure of September.

Italy's hold on second place is threatened by Germany which scored a sharp advance during the quarter. At the end of September Germany was building about 150,000 tons less than Italy. Germany then stood in fifth place, but by nearly doubling her September figure, is now in third place only 28,000 tons behind Italy.

The United States which ranked sixth in September, moved up to fourth place, while the Netherlands with a former ranking of third, dropped fifty.

The returns show a sharp contrast between Great Britain and Ireland and other maritime countries in the matter of new work begun during the last quarter and work being pushed toward completion in the same period. While only 67,853 gross tons of steamers and motorships were launched in Britain and Ireland, construction was started on 151,074 tons.

With the other maritime countries combined, however, new work was considerably less than the total represented by launchings, vessels for which keels were laid representing 260,422 tons, as against 329,295 tons of shipping launched.

New work represented 411,496 tons with 397,148 tons launched in the world in the last quarter.

The commerce department statement showed that building of tanker vessels, which for sometime has been on the decline, increased fifty per cent from the September to December quarters. Of this gain nearly 50,000 tons represented the increase in Great Britain and Ireland.

Construction of motor ships showed a gain of 75,000 tons, although Great Britain, Ireland, and Italy, which have been the leaders in this class of building, reported decreases.

"Peaches" Past May Figure In Court Testimony

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WHITE PLAINS, N. J., Jan. 31.—"Peaches" Browning's past—if she really has a "past"—will stalk before her in court today.

Counsel for her fifty-two-year-old millionaire husband, Edward W. ("Daddy") Browning, will strive to get into the record in the Browning separation suit that sixteen-year-old "Peaches" was versed in the ways of the world before she fox-trotted her way in to the affections of the big "Gander Man."

"Daddy's" lawyers will cut back into "Peaches" life as far as Justice Albert Seeger will allow them. They will try to have "Peaches'" diary, written before her marriage, admitted as evidence. This diary, it is contended, would show how intimate "Peaches" was with the "boy friends" she used to pal yith before she met "Daddy." The diary is said to mention no less than eighteen boys who were devoted admirers of "Peaches."

Also, Browning's counsel is expected to try to read in evidence nineteen letters written by "Peaches" to a girl friend, Pearl Bayer, and to boy friends. These letters, written by "Peaches" when she was attending high school, already have been produced in court and marked for identifcation.

David thought all men liars, and he wasn't a speed cop, either.

RUSH REPAIRS AND STEAMER SAILS ON TIME

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—Ten hours after she arrived in port from New York with two gaping holes in her iron plates and a huge anchor clinging to 20 feet of battered railing, the White Star liner Celtic sailed today for Queenstown.

The famous ocean greyhound with 650 persons aboard, including 252 passengers for Europe, was in collision with the American Diamond freighter Anaconda in a fog 25 miles east of Fire Island.

The Anaconda reached New York in safety and as soon as the Celtic docked here to pick up 90 more passengers repairmen went to work on a rush job.

Charge Student With Hold-up Of Taxi-Cab Driver

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31—Harold L. Yoh, 19, of Van West, O., University of Pennsylvania sophomore, was held by police today on a holdup charge. Yoh was arrested at a fraternity dance at a local hotel when the taxicab driver who drove him and a party of friends to the dance identified Yoh as the bandit who held him up a week ago, robbing him of $6 and his cab.

Yoh steadfastly denies the holdup charges, police said.

Customs Men Find Booze In Candies

(International News Service)

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 31.—At last liquar and candy have been knit as close together as the Siamese twins.

Which proves beyond a certainty today that even such a motherly act as bringing a box of candy home to the children from Cuba has its drawbacks in Tampa.

When a woman passenger on the steamer Cuba prepared to leave the ship, one of unfeeling and cautious officers spotted an innocent appearing box of chocolates in her hand.

Politely he asked her to open it. Indignant, the woman informed him it was for her children and demanded to know why it should be examined.

Whereupon said customs officer rudely smashed one of the candies. The pleasant, or unpleasant—a matter of choice—odor of whiskey permeated the atmosphere. So he smiled and smashed another, and another. The stuff with which the candy was filled tasted like liquor and smelled like liquor and, the officer vowed, it was liquor.

"Lady," he told the woman, "unless those kids of yours are accustomed to strong drink, you had best let me have this little present."

She agreed and today a choice box of Swiss chocolates, each piece filled with what was described as pre-Volstead stuff, rests comfortably behind lock and key in the vault of the customs house here.

Two Killed When Engine Hits Auto

Mother, Babe Victims Five Miles Outside Washington, Pa.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 31.—A mother and her 6-year-old baby were killed and the husband and father was severely injured yesterday afternoon when a light engine on the Pennsylvania railroad crashed into their automobile at Meadowland crossing, five miles from here.

Mrs. W. L. Armstrong, 23, died from a fracture of the skull on arrival at the Canonsburg hospital. Charles Armstrong, the infant, his neck broken, died almost instantly. Armstrong, 28, is in the Canonsburg hospital, internal injuries. His condition is declared critical.

The Armstrong family lived in Monongahela road near Washington. Taking advantage of the fine weather they left home for a short drive in the family machine. How the accident occurred is not known.

Average Amount Of Gas Per Car About 380 Gallons

While not all returns have been received by the auditor general's department, and therefore no exact figures can be secured, the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, in a report sent to B. N. Hanlon of the New Castle Motor club, stated the belief that the average gasoline consumption in Pennsylvania for the year 1926 was 379.8 gallons per car.

It is impossible to ascertain definitely the number of gallons consumed annually by the average Pennsylvania car, because many thousands of cars from other states come into Pennsylvania and their owners buy gas here.

The average consumption in the entire United States is 375 gallons yearly.

The state highway department some time ago informed the motor federation that approximately four per cent of the automobiles operated on Pennsylvania roads are foreign cars.

Gasoline tax receipts for 1926, at two cents per gallon, are now estimated as having been approximately $11,300,000.

Young Should Get $100,000 For Channel Swim

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—William Wrigley, Jr., fresh from Catalina, declared today that George Young, the youthful Toronto swimmer who conquered the choppy Catalina Channel, should amass a fortune of "At least $100,000," as a result of his achievement.

Young's first money was the $25,000 offered by Mr. Wrigley for the first man to conquer the channel. Wrigley said it cost $100,000 to stage the marathon.

"Young is getting $1,000 a day for public appearance," said Wrigley. "But swimming isn't the only thing that boy knows how to do. He knows how to hold onto money. He's putting it in trust for his mother."

Three-Year-Old Girl Chokes Swallowing Wooden Penholder

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 31.—Millio Breda, 118 Jefferson street, choked to death Sunday after swallowing a penholder while at play. X-ray pictures taken of the child's throat at the Westmoreland hospital proved useless in locating the obstruction as the penholder was of wood, which does not show in an Ex-ray photograph.

Doctors and nurses were forced to stand helplessly by while the child strangled.

Hope For Early Settlement Of Chinese Problem

United States Still Remains Steadfast In "Watchful Waiting" Policy

EARLY AGREEMENT IS NOW FORESEEN

British Proposals Handed Chinese Reported To Coincide With Kellogg Views

By MAURITZ A. HALLGREN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—In view of the continued gravity of the Chinese situation, this government, it was said today, will remain steadfast in its "watchful waiting" policy toward China.

The British proposals handed the Canton and Peking foreign ministers last week, officials here asserted, are in no way radically different from those already made by Secretary Kellogg. It was emphasized that the new London policy goes only one step further than that of the United States in that the British offer to relinquish partial control of their concessions. But as America has no concessions such a step could not, of course, be taken by the United States.

Some weight is also attached to the fact that the British have directly approached both Canton and Peking, while this government addressed its policy to the Chinese nation as a whole. It is believed in some quarters here that the United States will follow suit by finding some more direct avenue of approach, although this course has been frowned upon by Secretary Kellogg.

That an early settlement of the Chinese question can be reached is not now believed probable here. It is believed that Eugene Chen, Wellington Koo and Chang Tso-Lin, representing the major factions, would have made some definite move before now to appoint delegates to negotiate with the United States if such is their intention.

It is the general concensus of opinion however, that the local groundhog will see his shadow, and will hole up again for at least six more weeks.

Rich Detroit Man Is Seeking Fifth Divorce

Herbert S. Dee, Wealthy Real Estate Operator, Plans To Seek Freedom

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Jan. 31.—Herbert S. Dee, wealthy Detroit realtor, is about to enter the divorce courts again.

Dee, having failed to find marital happiness in five tries, states that he will soon begin a suit for divorce from his fifth wife. The fifth Mrs. Dee, formerly Mrs. Helen Jones, a sprightly widow of San Antonio, Tex., and Dee were united in Utica, N. Y., Nov. 13 last. Their domestic life lasted two months.

After they had settled in balmy California in a home right next to one Dee purchased for his fourth wife, the fifth Mrs. Dee deserted him, the realtor charges. A luxurious eight cylinder car and $3,800 held in a joint bank account also disappeared, Dee says.

Dee didn't lose a day between his fourth divorce and his fifth marriage. When Dulcie Agnes Dee, former artists model, who resided in Canton, O., at one time, divorced him, after property settlement was reached out of court, Dee promptly took unto himself a fifth wife. On November 12 he was divorced. On November 13 he was married.

Disaster on Honeymoon.

Dee's fourth marriage went on the rocks during a two weeks honeymoon on his palatial yacht, "The Cigaret" on Lake Erie. Other couples were aboard.

"We made the trip safely," Dee said, "but the weather was so rough we decided to send our wives back by train while we brought the boat in. We were delayed 24 hours and during this time my wife amused our friends by telling them I was an 'old fool' and that she married me solely for my money."

The fourth Mrs Dee, in her bill, had a few remarks to make about her husband's conduct.

"He boasted of spending $45,000 in a year on women and wine," she declared. "He enjoyed relating his affairs with pretty women from circuses and burlesque shows. During our married life he continually flirted with other women, often inviting unaccompanied girls to our table at cabarets and restaurants," said Mrs. Dee No. 4.

As is characteristic of all Dee's marriages, his fifth was a whirlwind affair. The charming, brown-eyed, brown-haired Mrs. Jones came from Texas to Detroit on business.

Met in Business.

She met Dee in a real estate deal. A few weeks later they were married. Immediately after the marriage she said:

"I feel sorry for Dee. I love him and I hope to make him very happy. I shall try hard to make our marriage a success."

On account of marital troubles, Dee's plan for around the world tour always seem to go astray. By way of observing his last two marriages he planned to cruise around the world in his own yacht. In each instance the marriage failed to last until the trip could get under way.

Dee was married to Adele Handy of San Francisco in 1917 and was divorced a short time later. His second wife was Countess Henri Berney, the former Marie Antainette de Lapa of the Hapsburg family. She obtained a divorce in San Francisco. Dee married Alice Crossman, also of San Francisco, and was divorced within a year. His fourth wife was Dulcie Agnes Langanke of Canton, O.

Dee plans to charge his fifth wife with desertion.

Boy Makes Models Of Ancient Ships

Work Of Thirteen-Year-Old Henry Lawton Is On Exhibition Here

In the window of the foreign department of the Lawrence Savings and Trust company, there is now on exhibition two models of ancient ships, which are the handiwork of thirteen year boy Henry Lawton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lawton of 1015 Adams street. The youth is an 8th grade student in the public schools of the city and has shown marked ability in his efforts to create exact representations of boats of other days. They are attracting general attention.

One is a perfect model of an ancient Spanish Galleon of the days of Columbus and everything is exact even to the minute details of the guns, anchor, forecastle, sails, rigging, flags of Spain and other things that were in keeping with a ship of that day.

The other is a smaller but exact reproduction of a pirate ship of about the same period or possibly earlier in the history of the world. It is complete even to the oars with which the ship was manouvered, probably by slaves.

The designer and maker of the ships shows a rare cultural ability in being able to reproduce with such exactness, the ships of so many hundreds of years ago.

To Settle Route Numbering Soon

Pennsylvania Highways May Be Numbered According To U. S. Plan

One of the questions soon to be answered by Secretary of Highways James J. Stuart is whether Pennsylvania will adopt the United States road numbering system.

If Pennsylvania adopts the numbers used by the federal government and adopted by a conference called by the Secretary of Agriculture, all of the numbers now in use on main roads in this state will be scrapped, except possibly two.

The numbers adopted three or four years ago by the Pennsylvania Highway Department do not "jibe" with the federal numbers. It may be possible to retain the Pennsylvania numbers and add the federal numbers for the benefit of the interstate travelers, but there would always be confusion.

To change over to the United States system will cost a large sum of money because all numbers now in place must be painted out. The cost would not be so great, however, as it would had Pennsylvania erected permanent number plates, as Ohio and several other states have done.

Members of the American Automobile Association are anxiously looking forward to the time when Mr. Sauart will decide this question.

Arrest Thirty-One In Beaver County Raid Near Ellwood City

(Special To The News)

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Jan. 31.—State troopers from the barracks here last night raided the gasoline station and barbecue establishment at Three Points on the Boots farm on the old Elwood City-Beaver Falls road a short distance from Ellwood City, arresting two women and 29 men found in the place.

Justice of the Peace George T. Smith of this place accompanied the raiding party and 14 of the men put up forfeits for their appearance at a hearing scheduled for this evening before Justice of the Peace Smith. The balance of the men and the two women were lodged in the Beaver county jail, being so many in number that a Beaver Valley motor bus had to be used to transport them to the place.

The women arrested gave the names of Helen Clark who has been charged with being the proprietress of the alleged disorderly house, Tess Rosso who has been charged with possessing liquor and operating a house of prostitution. William Matro and Dominick Terona were the names given by two of the men who had been charged with possessing and selling liquor.

The raiding party arrived at the place shortly before 10 o'clock last night and parking their cars at some distance, hid in the orchard of the place. Trooper Bush then went to the place and purchased some liquor for $1.25 from Matro. Bush and Constable Caldwell then entered the house and purchased monshine and wine.

Most of the visitors claimed to be from Niles, O.

'Bobby' Cruickshank Takes Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 31.—Add $1,500 more to the January earnings of the golf clubs of Bobby Cruickshank. Add the Texas open championship to the Los Angeles open champion, and its top money of $3,500, which he won three weeks ago, and you get the general idea that the month has been a profitable one to Wee Bobby.

At the conclusion of hostilities Sunday Cruickshank's lead, gained in the first round over the difficult Willow Springs course, never once had been reliquished, and his 292 for the 72 holes was three strokes better than the 295 of Larry Nabholtz of Cleveland.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

It is generally understood that players in organized baseball will be "requested" to refrain from betting on ball games and horse races in the future and that contracts offered members of the profession from now on will contain a clause stipulating that they must not lay wagers on either.

This action, if taken, will meet with much resistance, although a perfectly logical and proper one.

"It's only human for a man to want to bet on something if he has any red blood in his veins," you hear fans remark.

It is reasonable to suppose that ball players are only ordinary humans and have the same traits their follow men have. Of course they like to "lay a little bet" now and then.

But in view of the possible evils that may result from such actions it is a reasonable move on the part of baseball powers to ask that men representing that game be asked to deny themselves that one pleasure—for their own good as well as the game's.

Betting by individual members of the game on sporting events outside of baseball quite obviously can have no effect on baseball. But the act in itself prompts an evil.

Take the case of the Cleveland players mentioned in one of Ban Johnson's outbursts.

I have it from a man who should and does know the inside of that matter. The fact is this: One member of the Cleveland club, as it was composed in May, 1925, received a "hot tip" on a horse that was to race that day. He passed the tip along to several other players and they agreed to collect a "pool" and "give the horse a ride." A total of $315 was collected from several members, in on the tip.

The bet was placed by an employe of the park with a betting commissioner and the horse won, paying the limit of odds allowed by a "bookie".

Now the point is this: That one bet did not injure baseball or impair the value of the players of the game. But this success might well have egged them on to other "coups" and eventually distracted their attention from the game at hand. One can appreciate a ball player's frame of mind on the field when he is aware of the fact that a bet placed earlier in the day may, at that moment, be netting him two or three days' salary.

Men in any phase of public life must deny themselves certain privileges and liberties enjoyed by the ordinary private citizen, because of their position. Particularly is this true in all branches of sport.

A ball player's success is directly related to the success of the game in general and the confidence he wins from the game-going public. He cannot afford to commit acts that may eventually have a direct bearing on the game on which he depends for his livelihood or on his popularity with the fans—who indirectly pay him his salary.

But, on the other hand, how about the magnates?

Is it wise for any of the high officials of the game to be connected directly with the racing game, for instance? Ought not the powers that be realize a similar responsibility to their business and the public?

Let's use the same code of ethics for players and magnates.

THE UNION STORE

Would Regulate Sale Of Revolvers

Bill Is Introduced In State Legislature Far-Reaching

WOULD PREVENT HASTY SUICIDES

By ROBERT F. GORMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 31.—Hasty suicides with revolvers would be reduced in number in Pennsylvania under the provisions of a bill before the state legislature today, introduced by Representative Patrick Conner of Philadelphia.

The Conner bill which would regulate the sale, transfer and possession of pistols and revolvers, provides that "no pistol or revolver shall be delivered on the day that an application is made for its purchase." Thereby persons contemplating suicide or shooting frays on short notice and desiring to purchase a revolver hastily would be "out of luck".

Primarily, the Conner bill is designed to regulate the sale and use of revolvers in Pennsylvania. The bill provides that in the trial of any person for committing or attempting to commit a crime of violence, the fact that he was armed with a revolver and had no license to carry it shall be prima facie evidence in his intention to commit the crime. Persons convicted of crime in Pennsylvania or elsewhere would be forbidden to carry revolvers and likewise such weapons could not be carried in automobiles without a license, under the terms of the bill.

Under the provisions of the measure the chief of police of any city, borough or township, or the sheriff of a county might issue a license to a person who fears injury to himself or his property. The license would be signed in triplicate, original going to the person granted the permit, another copy going to the state police and the third copy being retained by the authority causing the issuance.

Stores handling revolvers and pistols would have to be licensed, the license to be issued by a chief of police or sheriff on a form prescribed by the state police. Under no condition would the dealer be allowed to deliver the weapon to a person on the same day that the application for purchase is made. This provision, it was said, was included so that there might be time for reflection.

The purchaser would be compelled to sign three forms, one of which would go to the state police, another to the chief of police or sheriff, and the third to the dealer.

Dealers would be permitted to sell weapons only to persons who could properly identify themselves. Violations of the provisions of the act would be punishable by a fine of not more than $5,000 or imprisonment for not more than ten years, or both. The proposed measure does not apply to antique pistols or revolvers unsuitable for use as firearms.

Spring Like Day Brings Out Auto Tourists Sunday

Dense Traffic On Improved Highways—Touring Conditions Are Unusual For January

Favored with a springlike day Sunday, thousands of persons were out on the improved roads for an auto ride during the afternoon.

All roads leading into New Castle showed an immense amount of traffic. The unimproved roads, however, were not much traversed, as they were in poor shape.

Temperature on Sunday was near 50, and the mild weather of the previous 24 hours had completely cleared the highways of the coating of ice that had made traffic so treacherous during the two weeks preceding.

Touring conditions on Sunday were about perfect.

Numerous minor accidents were reported during the day, despite the ideal conditions for traffic.

Splendid Discourse On "Paying God"

Rev. Scripture Stresses The Fact That We Owe God Service For His Care For Us

Both of the services yesterday at the Hoover Heights Gospel Tabernacle of the Christian and Missionary Alliance added much to the revival services being held there. This is the last week of the services. The annual missionary convention beginning Wednesday will close them.

L. Bogle sang a song of his own composition at the Sunday school yesterday, which was a review of the lesson. Mr. and Mrs. Bogle also sang another of his compositions at the morning service on "The Greatest of All". The children still continue to have much interest in the object lessons which the pastor gives them each Sunday morning.

The morning sermon was on "Paying God", which the pastor, Rev. Scripture, declared was essential to having God's full blessing on the individual or the church. Choosing his texts from Malachi 3:8-10 and I Corinthians 16:2, the speaker declared that we owe God love, service, a return on the investment He has made in us, which is the tenth or tithe and ourselves. When we give our tenth we are not giving but paying the debt we owe God. Paying an honest debt is not giving. God's standard of our giving to Him is first the tithe, then the offering and the recognizing and holding of all we have as His. Many methods of collecting this were mentioned, but stress was laid on the fact that all must be given willingly, cheerfully and gladly, and even hilariously. Such giving brings great gladness to the giver.

The evening discourse had to do with "The Folly of Godlessness", based on the three accounts of the rich men, which might have been the same person. First, the rich young ruler who came to Jesus inquiring the way of eternal life, but when required to put God first, went away sad. The next scene was of the contented rich fool who was going to eat, drink and be merry, but who was called that night to eternity. He then had to give up all, which he had refused to do at Jesus' bidding. The last scene was of the rich man in Hell who was in torments. He who while on earth could have all he wanted could not now buy even a drop of water. He could not escape. He was there forever. Once convicted and coming to Jesus, he now must endure Hell forever because he would not do as Jesus bid. Thus will all who are ungodly end. The speaker urged all to whom God was speaking to turn from sin and live a Godly life, that they might be with God in Heaven forever. A number responded. Service tonight at 7:30.

Massachusetts Crime Expert Offers Commission Plan To Fix Sentence

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Jan. 31.—A board of three, to consist of a jurist, a layman and an expert such as a psychiatrist, to impose sentences in criminal cases rather than the present system of judges in the criminal courts is the suggestion of Frank A. Brooks, chairman of the Massachusetts Parole Board and long engaged in criminal investigation.

The trio of "judges" as suggested by Mr. Brooks would be given authority to fix penalties in all but capital crimes. The members of such a board would have more time and opportunity to investigate and diagnose cases to the ultimate benefit of the public and the defendant.

Joining with many others in this state who oppose the determination of penalties by standard laws Mr. Brooks urges a closer study of individual cases especially those of youthful offenders before sentence is passed.

Mistakes Occur.

Possessed of a natural sympathy for youthful offenders who can be diverted to more upright channels of life Mr. Brooks is however without sympathy for gunmen and criminals of matured age.

With 200 judges passing sentences every day in the lower and Superior courts of the state, it is hard to avoid mistakes Mr. Brooks believes. He says "A judge may not be feeling as well as usual or the docket may be crowded or all the facts may not be presented. I say this without the least desire to criticize, but merely to cite the human side of the question.

"With three experts sitting in a clearing house for the disposition of criminal cases, a defendant's rights would be better safeguarded and his chances of reform better insured. I feel that conditions will eventually bring about such a penalty tribunal. It would not usurp the power of the courts, nor that of the Parole Board, but would serve as an effective ally in coping with crimes."

Blame on Parents.

The major portion of crime cases involving youths which now come before the courts can be directly attributed to parents in the opinion of Mr. Brooks. Recent crimes committed by young men who later told that a desire for money to spend on girl friends is a glaring example of lack of parental guidance he says. Mr. Brooks said:

Referring to a murder that was the outcome of such an incentive.

"Any father or mother who knows their son is riding around in an automobile, dressing to swagger and leading a sporty life and doesn't try to find out where the son gets the money to cut such a gay swath is directly responsible for any robbery or murder that such a youth may commit in his greed for soft money. Any mother who allows her daughter to go around with such a boy and accept his gifts and entertainment also morally becomes an accessory to any crime he may commit.

TIN MILL QUINTET DROPS FIRST LEAGUE BATTLE

Overlands Turn Trick, 31 To 29

Rick-Overlands Nose Out Tin Mill Team In Thrilling Contest Saturday

MAHONING QUINT TOPS P. R. R.

By "BUGS" WALTHER

After going through the entire first half of the City Industrial League schedule undefeated, and scoring seven straight victories, the Tin Mill quintet suffered defeat at the hands of the Rick-Overland boys, on Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A., by a count of 31 to 29. In the first game of the program the Mahoning A. A. team defeated the Pennsy tossers 26 to 21.

The games Saturday night marked the start of the race for the second half honors and judging from the form shown by the Overlands in their defeat of the Tin Mill gang, the second half of the season will find a battle for first place.

Another surprising feature of the league games Saturday was the fact that the newly organized Mahoning A. A. outfit defeated the Pennsy railroad team 26 to 21. The Mahoning boys will wage a hard fight for honors this half, is the indication.

The Mahoning team had a fight on their hands Saturday in their game with the Pennsy passers. At half time the railroad boys were ahead 17 to 15, but were unable to maintain their stride in the third and fourth quarters. Boone of the Wampum Indies had seven baskets to his credit and was one of the principal reasons for the Mahoning victory. Blythe also of the Wampum team had four baskets as his part of the evening's work. For the Pennsy team the work of W. Kroen, Coen, and Reider featured.

Two Extra Periods

The Rick-Overlands downed the Tin Mill team for the first time this year in the second game of the bill, but it took two extra five-minute periods to accomplish the trick. The game was without doubt one of the best and hardest fought of the league to date and kept a fairly large crowd of fans on edge throughout the contest.

The Tin Mill team went into an early lead and held an advantage of 19 to 14 as the first half ended. The Overlands came to life in the third and fourth periods to deadlock the count as the regulation game was brought to a close. In the first extra period both teams fought hard and drew up in a "dead heat," the second extra session found the Overlands a little the better and a field goal gave them victory by a two-point margin.

Fast Games Tonight

Two fast games will be played tonight in the league. The first game of the menu will get under way at 8 o'clock and will bring together the East Side Merchants and Mahoning A. A. in what should be a fast encounter.

The second game of the evening will find the P. & O. Electrics pitted against the Tin Mill boys. The "Tin Wallopers" will have a chance to regain their stride tonight and to tie with the Overlands for first place in the circuit.

The lineups and summaries of the games played Saturday:

Yankees Seek Cobb-Speaker For 1927 Team

Belief Prevails That Either Cobb Or Speaker Will Sign With Yanks

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—In talking trifles today with Miller Huggins, the thought may occur to Tris Speaker that the average wrestler in Japan weighs 400 pounds and has the paunch of an ex-brewer in order to prevent anyone getting a firm hold on him and to avoid injury when he falls. This will remind Speaker of himself. He is so different.

He fully expects the Yanks, Athletics or Senators to get a firm and semi-permanent hold on him and should he fall for Mr. Huggins suave, oily ways, the chances are he won't be injured in the slightest. In fact, the young man figures to do himself plenty of good. He and Ty Cobb are two of the three men on record who have profited by a punch on the nose. The other is Jack Dempsey.

The only thing Dutch Leonard accomplished by his scandal charges against the pair of stars was to talk each into at least $50,000 for the following season. An odds-on bet is that the New York Yankees, being extremely nervous with a fountain pen, will have either Speaker or Cobb in their outfield for the 1927 campaign.

The Athletics had a hard time in downing the Handy Service team. At half time the Athletics held a lead of 10 to 8. In the third and fourth quarters the Athletics led by Mancine and Pittaway scored 14 more points to cinch the victory. Marquis and Wallace were the shining lights for the losers.

Bessemer Team Is Nosed Out By Single Point 22-21

Play Great Game With Petersburg Aces — Reserves Are Winners

(Special To The News)

BESSEMER, Jan. 31.—The Bessemer Pirates came within a point of achieving another double victory over the Petersburg Aces on the Bessemer floor Saturday evening. After a slow first half, the Pirate Reserves ran away from the Petersburg Seconds, stampeding over them by the lopsided score of 50-13. In the main setto the Pirates were nosed out 22 to 21.

The first half kept the spectators in suspense as to the outcome by reason of the relatively close score, the score at half time being 16-7, with Bessemer on top. In the third session the Pirate Reserves increased their side of the ledged to 32 while the Petersburg men scored only two field goals. The final period was practically a repetition of the third, only Petersburg scored but two points, or less than they had garnered in the previous session, while the Bessemer players scored 18 points in the final period.

The main game developed into a rough and tumble affair right after the first whistle and remained such for the greater part of the fray.

The two teams fought tooth and nail for every point and every point made by either team was fully earned. The Petersburg men had a little better luck with their shots and led 16-5 at half time,

With the start of the second half, the Pirates began a determined effort to overcome the lead and succeeded in getting ahead just three minutes before the end of the game, when Chaney registered two field goals in a row. Immediately after getting this one-point lead the Pirates let down slightly and this let-down proved fatal for Beight registered for the Petersburg team, and his shot eventually won the game. Just as the game was ending, Olson was fouled, and although he is ordinarily an accurate shot from the foul line, he failed in both attempts.

The Petersburg players excelled the Pirates in passwork and they showed greater skill in penetrating the five-man defense. Beight was on the receiving end of many of the Petersburg passes and was high man for the evening with five goals from the field and three from the free throw line.

Lineups:

Pirates Res. 50		Petersburg Res. 13

Mercury Murchison — By Feg Murray

Folks, meet Loren Murchison, who has been sprinting here and there around the face of the globe ever since before the war. Most of you have probably met Mr. Murchison before, but for those who haven't, let me say that away back in 1918, when he was an embryo sailor at the Great Lakes Naval Station, Loren won the 220-yard dash in the National A. A. U. championships. Since that time, he has won indoor and outdoor titles too numerous to mention, and this week finds him competing once more in the famous Millrose Games at Madison Square Garden in New York City, ready to defend his title as king of indoor sprinters.

To show how firmly that crown adorns the noble dome of the irrepressible "Murch," let me say that until he hurt his leg a little less than a year ago, Loren had won around forty consecutive indoor sprint races. And in the last three Millrose athletic carnivals, the speedy St. Louis Flyer has won every single race in which he has competed, which includes three races at 300 yards, in addition to the sprints. Numbered among the famous opponents who have bowed in defeat to Murchison, are the three H's, Hussey, Hubbard, and Houben, and such other notable dash men as Bowman, Norton, Miller, Clarke, and McAllister. Outdoors, he has beaten the more-than-famous Charley Paddock, as well as Morris Kirksey and Al Leconey.

"Murch" is noted for an extremely fast start, which is an especially handy thing to possess if you are an indoor sprinter, where the shorter distances are run. It is not unusual for a sprinter to retain top form for a period of ten years—witness the careers of Paddock and Scholz—but Murch's personality has quite a bit to do with his unending string of triumphs. Year after year, Loren is cocky, full of pep, a great kidder and the "life of the party" on and off the track. He'll never grow up, this carefree, happy-go-lucky dynamo, but don't think that he doesn't mix plenty of brains with his business of sprinting or with his business, either!

Feg Murray Says—

"Seven Olsens were members of the 1926 Luther College, Iowa, football team."—News item.

Too bad they didn't all go to Princeton, where, no doubt, "Old Bill" Roper would soon have picked out the Better 'Ole.

Grovers Idle Due To Exams

Grove City Team To Be Idle For Week Due To Examinations

GROVE CITY, Pa., Jan. 31. — With the mid-term examinations in full sway here, Grove City College's basketball team will remain idle this week, not playing again until February 8, when the Crimson passers invade Beaver Falls to tackle their traditional foe—Geneva College.

Examinations began here Saturday and will continue for one week. A let-up in practice sessions will be seen in order that the basketeers may give their full time in preparation for the semester quizzes. All of the team members are in good standing and it is unlikely that Coach Thorn will lose any of his men due to poor scholastic work.

Following this week, however, Grove City enters into the midst of her campaign. Meeting Geneva College on Monday, February 8, the Grovers continue their playing abroad by clashing with Pitt on Friday, February 11, and journeying to Morgantown, West Virginia, on Saturday, February 12, to play the West Virginia University quint. That week will undoubtedly be one of the most important on schedule.

The Grovers to date have failed to impress very much in Tri-State Collegiate circles and Coach Robert E. Thorn is somewhat disappointed in the showing of his proteges. The consecutive defeats by W. & J. and Allegheny came as a shock to local fans. The boys failed to show any class in either contest but hopes are being entertained that Captain Stevens and his mates return to form in coming games and finish up well in the running.

New Castle-Evans City In Title Battle Friday

By "BUGS" WALTHER

New Castle high will be idle on Tuesday night of this week, but the schedule makers in section IV have handed them a tough assignment for Friday night, February 4. The locals will travel to Evans City Friday for a return engagement with the Butler county passers.

The locals hold the distinction of being the only section IV team to defeat the Evans City passers this year. The first game of the circuit schedule found the Evans City team trailing here by a score of 32 to 16, but since that time the Evans City boys have shown a marked tendency to break into the victory column. To date they have won four games and dropped one. New Castle high is udefeated in five games.

Should the locals drop to Evans City Friday night the league race for honors will be tied up tighter than a dozen eggs in a tissue paper sack. From all indications it will be New Castle and Evans City to fight it out for the championship. Butler with three victories and two defeats has an outside chance of copping the gonfalon but the chances are growing dim.

Coach Bridenbaugh has announced several stiff practice sessions for the squad this week. The big problem that confronts the local coach is the filling of the shoes left vacant by Captain Clarence Klaber. Klaber, one of the best defensive guards that ever donned a Red and Black uniform, is ineligible for high school basketball under the eight-semester ruling. Klaber has concluded his high school work and is taking a post-graduate course until June when he will graduate with the class of 1927.

It is believed that Silliman, former Ben Franklin high star, will draw the berth left vacant by Klaber. Sillman has been utilized as a substitute in the majority of the games so far this year and has shown a marked improvement in his style of play. In event that Sillman is given the guard job, the team will be fortunate in having two former Ben Franklin high players at the sentinel jobs. Ostrosky has cinched one of the guard posts and is rated high in the league circles. Sillman and Ostrosky were teammates at Ben Franklin.

The score see-sawed back and forth the first quarter with the teams deadlocked at 3-3 as the first quarter was brought to a close. At half time the visitors led by a score of 7 to 5. Hayes and Cushonic were the big guns for the Delmars in the first two quarters. A Mehalic and Cegielka were the best for the Falcons.

The third quarter was fast with both teams scoring a total of seven points. The score at the end of the third quarter was 14 to 12 with the Delmars leading. The visitors outscored the Falcons to win by a count of 21 to 16.

Cushonic and Hayes were the stars for the visitors, while A. Mehalic and Koledejeski played well for the Falcons.

Ruth And Grimes Start South Soon

Big Leaguers Will Go South In Advance Of Regular Squads

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—It seems but a few weeks ago that Grover Alexander during a dark and damp afternoon at the Yankee Stadium, struck out Tony Lazzeri and killed the recent chance the Yankees had of winning a World's Series. Yet another year of baseball is about to burst upon the fans. This week the first squad of ball players will begin work for the campaign, now only a few weeks ahead.

Both the Yankees and the Giants will be represented among the early trainers, although neither club will begin actual work at its training base until later in the month. Babe Ruth will be the first of the Hugmen to start work for the season ahead, and Burleigh Grimes will be the pioneer among the Giants.

Youngstown Bout Has Been Cancelled

Billy Wallace, lightweight, has the Influenza and Promoter Al Zill has been compelled to cancel the Wallace-Mitchell fight which had been scheduled for Youngstown, O., tonight.

All but five of the 16 major league baseball teams will do their training in Florida this spring.

WEIGHT MAY WEAKEN PHIL

Rosenberg To Face Graham In Titular Bout Friday

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Charley (Phil) Rosenberg will take his bantamweight championship into the ring at Madison Square Garden next Friday night for the second world's titular battle of 1927 in that arena. Rosenberg is due to face the dazzling speed of Bushy Graham of Utica, N. Y., for 15 rounds.

The New York City boxer has faced little serious competition since winning the crown from Eddie (Cannonball) Martin two years ago. Difficulty in making the 118-pound limit, which already has caused one postponement of the match, may leave the champion in a weakened condition, experts believe. A long period of ineligibility in New York, caused by failure to defend his title, has given Rosenberg little chance for "tune-up" matches.

Bessemer Pirates Top Musketeers

Bessemer Quintet Too Fast For Boy's League Team, Score 32-30

The Musketeers of the boys' league of the Y. M. C. A. stepped out of their class Friday night at Bessemer and were nosed out 32 to 30 by the strong Bessemer Pirate quintet. The game was hard fought and proved highly interesting.

The Pirates maintained a lead of 15 to 11 at the conclusion of the first half of play and held a slight lead throughout the third and fourth quarters. The Musketeers rallied in the closing period but they fell short two points of enough to deadlock the count.

Hannon and Kroen were the big scorers for the Musketeers with four and five baskets respectively, while Smith, Jackson and Cutler were the best for the Pirates.

The lineup and summary:

Musketeers 30		Bessemer 32
Woods	F	Buckley
Hannon	F	Swanson
Clark	C	Cutler
Hill	G	Smith
Kroen	G	Carlson

Subs—Louden, Jackson, Dudek.

Field goals—Woods 2, Hannon 4, Hill, Kroen 5, Buckley 2, Jackson 4, Cutler 3, Smith 6.

Fouls—Musketeers 6 out of 10, Bessemer 2 out of 5.

Referee—Nelson.

New Wilmington And New Castle Battle Tonight

New Castle High, Undefeated Section IV Team, To Play At New Wilmington

New Castle High's undefeated Section IV passers will invade New Wilmington tonight to battle the New Wilmington High team. The game will start at 8 o'clock and will be played in the college gymnasium.

The locals are in a winning streak that has carried them through seven straight victories and they hope to make it eight straight tonight. The Wilmington boys may pull the unexpected tonight and take some of the polish and veneer off the Red and Black machine. The dope bucket has been upset before and there is no reason why it shouldn't do another flip-flop.

The trip to New Wilmington will be made in machines. The team will assemble at the Y. M. C. A. at 7 o'clock.

Three Penn State Athletes To Leave

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 31.—Penn State will lose three prominent athletes by graduation at the mid-year commencement on Tuesday night of next week, it was learned today. Football, soccer, lacrosse, baseball and track are the teams affected in the graduation of Bill Helbig, Jay Eisenhuth and Ray Brierly.

Helbig was a backfield luminary on the gridiron for several years and last fall was an assistant coach, having ended his active playing career in the season of 1925. He was also a member of the lacross team for three years. He hails from Newark, N. J.

Eisenhuth and Brierly are both Philadelphia boys. The former was for three years a member of Penn State soccer elevens that helped establish a record of seven years without a defeat. He was a star on this year's team that has excellent claim for the intercollegiate championship. He is also a baseball veteran and will be a serious loss to the infield this spring. Brierly is a track man, specializing in the sprints and the broad jump, and will be missed in the coming spring campaign.

Fundoots To Get Try-out With Neale

Ralph (Blacie) Fundoots of West Pittsburg, Pa., centerfielder will get a chance with Clarksburg, W. Va., with Greasy Neale as manager, according to word received here today. Fundoots is said to be one of the best ground coverers county sandlot hall has and he is good with the stick. He can round the bases in 13 seconds and has been ordered to report to Neale when spring arrives.

Al Mello, crack boxer of Lowell, Mass., who is aiming for the welterweight championship, is of Portuguese extentage.

PETERS ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

BY Florence Smith Vincent

IN A DAY AND A NIGHT

Lower and lower sang the strange boy's voice, and at last it was silent. The boy turned his face away; his hand moved. Could it be he was wiping away a tear. Peter and the little girl were dismayed, and then, while they were wondering what to do the strange boy spoke again.

"One morning, instead of going to the pasture to bring home the cows, I went fishing, and I wandered 'long the trout brook all forenoon, and when I grew so hungry I just had to go home for dinner, what do you think happened? Ma made me mind the baby all afternoon. And the fellows passed by and laughed at me—called me 'sissy'. And I was so mad I could have dumped baby right out of his carriage on to the ground, if only I had dared, but I didn't! And so I just went on minding him, and at last it was dewtime and Ma put the baby to sleep and Pa sent me to bed without any supper, and there were hot biscuits and honey for supper, too!

"I went to bed, but I couldn't go to sleep. I just lay there staring out the window, and by and by the moon came up and the Man in the Moon smiled down at me, so jolly-like, and I smiled back. And I looked at him so long that by and by it seemed to me he was winking at me, beckoning, trying to tell me something. I tried to find out what it was, and after awhile I heard a voice, faint, but just as plain, whisper:—

"'Come on up; come on up to the Garden of the Moon, little boy. Up here there is no work but all play. No one to punish you, but many to play with—the land of your heart's desire.'

"'Oh, I wish I was there!" I cried. 'Oh, Mr. Man in the Moon, I wish I was up there with you!'

"And I wished so hard and I wished so long that I wished myself to sleep. And I had the funniest dream—thought I was climbing up a moonbeam. And when I woke up I wasn't in bed at all but in the middle of a field of flowers!"

Next:—"Back to Earth."

One night I lay in my bed and wished I was up in the moon.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT

The vegetable dinner is popular in the home and restaurant in these modern days of dieting. In choosing the kinds of vegetables to serve together consider those of contrasting texture, flavor and color. Following is a menu popular in a leading New York restaurant. It may be served as dinner or luncheon.

Poached Eggs Hollandaise Sauce
Green Peas Potato Balls
String Beans Glazed Carrots
Buttered Spinach
Broiled Cauliflower
Coffee Substitute

TODAY'S RECIPES

Broiled Cauliflower — Cook as usual in salted water, split in flowers, butter and put into broiler for a moment.

Hollandaise Sauce — Two egg yolks, one-third teaspoon salt, dash of paprika, one-third cup boiling water, two tablespoons lemon juice, one-third cup salad oil or four tablespoons butter. Beat egg yolks slightly and add all but lemon. Cook until thickened. Take from fire and add lemon.

Potato Balls—Balls of mashed potatoes should be rolled in chopped spinach.

SUGGESTIONS

Gloves should be washed on the hands in a bowl of clean, white soapsuds. They retain their shape better if washed on the hands. Also, have a little soap in the rinsing water in order to keep the material soft.

Sour Cream Frosting

Cook one cup brown sugar and one cup sour cream until the soft ball stage, then add one cup of chopped nut meats and stir until it begins to thicken, then quickly spread it between the layers and on top of cake.

Makes Molasses Dark

When using molasses and it is not as dark as desired for ginger bread or cookies, add a tablespoon of melted chocolate to molasses and spices, improving the flavor and color.

IN LONDON.

An American who had been enjoying the sights and other things which London provides for tourists asked a passing policeman how he could reach his hotel.

"Stand on this corner and take bus 41 when it comes along" the constable told him.

Some time later he met the man at the same corner.

"What's the matter?" he asked.

"'Sall right" said the sightseer, "the 39th bus just gone by; only got to wait for two more."

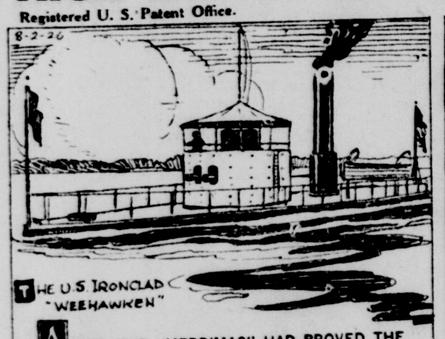
The Development of Ironclads.

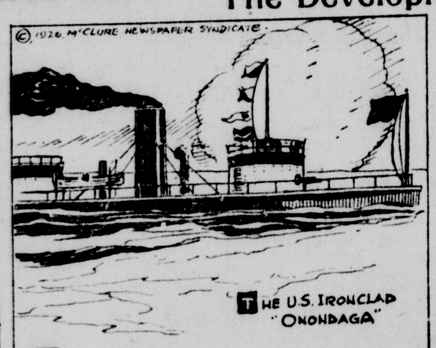
by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

Registered U. S. Patent Office.



THE U.S. IRONCLAD "WEEHAWKEN"

AFTER THE "MERRIMAC" HAD PROVED THE SUPERIORITY OF THE IRONCLAD OVER THE WOODEN WARSHIP (MARCH 8, 1862), MANY ARMORED VESSELS WERE BUILT BY THE FEDERAL AND CONFEDERATE GOVERNMENTS. THE "WEEHAWKEN" (SHOWN ABOVE) WAS ONE OF A NUMBER BUILT ALONG THE LINES OF THE "MONITOR". SHE WAS SUNK DURING DU PONT'S ATTACK ON CHARLESTON IN 1863.

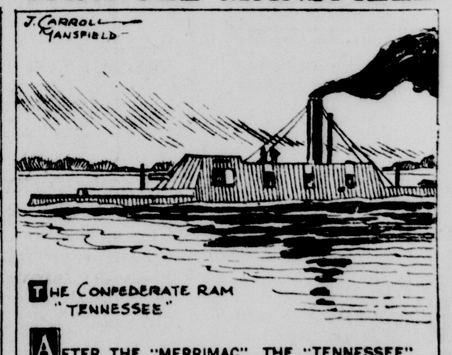


THE U.S. IRONCLAD "ONONDAGA"

THE "ONONDAGA", BUILT DURING THE LATTER PART OF THE WAR, WAS A FURTHER DEVELOPMENT OF THE "MONITOR" TYPE. SHE HAD TWO REVOLVING TURRETS AND CARRIED TWO 15-INCH AND TWO 150-POUND GUNS. THE "ONONDAGA" TOOK AN ACTIVE PART IN THE FIGHTING ON THE JAMES RIVER IN 1864-65.

THE CONFEDERATE RAM "ALBEMARLE"

THE CONFEDERATES PLACED GREAT RELIANCE UPON RAMS FOR HARBOR AND RIVER DEFENSE. THE POWERFUL "ALBEMARLE" WAS BUILT IN 1864. ON APRIL 19, 1864, SHE SANK THE UNION GUNBOAT "SOUTHFIELD" IN THE ROANOKE RIVER. SHE WAS LATER TORPEDOED BY LIEUT. CUSHING OF THE FEDERAL NAVY (OCT. 28, 1864).



THE CONFEDERATE RAM "TENNESSEE"

AFTER THE "MERRIMAC", THE "TENNESSEE" WAS THE MOST CELEBRATED OF CONFEDERATE RAMS. ON AUGUST 5, 1864, AT MOBILE BAY, THE "TENNESSEE" (COMMANDED BY COMMODORE BUCHANAN) WHO HAD COMMANDED THE "MERRIMAC"), ENGAGED FARRAGUT'S FLEET SINGLEHANDED AND FOUGHT UNTIL DISABLED.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan 31.—Industrial stocks in the early trading today were under the influence of the short covering which produced the closing rally of prices on Saturday. The week end developments in the Chinese, Nicaraguan and Mexican "situations" were generally favorable, and the Street was inclined to ignore the $15,900,000 deficit reported in the weekly clearing house statement.

Brisk buying was resumed in a number of railroad stocks, including New Haven and Chesapeake & Ohio. Strength in New Haven is due to expectation of a resumption of dividends this year.

Buoyancy in the industrials was generally confined to stocks in which a heavy short interest existed. General Motors sold up 2½ and Baldwin advanced about a point. Motors and independent oils were firm, with Sinclair Preferred leading the latter group. This stock sold at 103, the highest price in its history.

Professionals were active in the tobacco stocks and a few of the specialties, but outside speculative interest in these stocks was negligible. Stocks of the amusement companies were pushed along to slightly higher price levels, under the lead of Loews Inc., which sold above 53. Tire stocks and automobile accessory stocks were also inclined to slightly higher levels.

Call money renewals 4 per cent, unchanged from last Saturday.

Peaches Creates Scene In Court

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

COURT HOUSE, White Plains, N. Y., Jan. 31.—"Peaches" Browning created a scene in court here this afternoon at the Browning separation trial when she shouted at a witness: "You are perjuring yourself—I never saw you before in my life."

The witness was James P. Mixon of Brooklyn, a married man, who testified he used to "go" with "Peaches" before Browning and she were married.

The dramatic scene came when Attorney Henry Epstein, "Peaches" lawyer, asked Mixon if he was sure the girl he said he had gone around with was "Peaches". He asked the witness to look at her closely and "tell me if you are sure it is the same girl."

Mixon turned and looked at "Peaches".

"It is," he declared.

"Peaches" leaped to her feet.

"You lie, you lie," she shouted, tears springing into her eyes.

"You are perjuring yourself and you know it. I never saw you before in my life."

The courtroom was in a turmoil.

Prince William Is Versatile

Second Son Of King Gustaf V. Will Speak Here On Big Game Hunting

Brain power and versatility are the outstanding qualities of Prince William of Sweden, second son of King Gustaf V., who is to appear in this city at the Scottish Rite Cathedral on the evening of February 12 to tell of his experiences in hunting big game in Africa. His talk will be illustrated with remarkable still and motion pictures taken by himself and his party on their last tour through African jungles and plains.

In Sweden, Prince William is held in highest esteem as speaker, poet, novelist, theatrical critic and dramatist, while his travel books are those most widely read in the country. His short stories have been translated into several foreign languages.

Already as a little boy he showed signs of narrative gifts. His childhood governess relates that when he and the present Crown Prince were still in their nursery in the Stockholm Royal Castle, he would seize his older brother and say "Now I am going to tell you a story." His literary gifts he derives in direct inheritance from his grandfather, the late King Oscar II, who was an eminent writer of both prose and verse, as well as a leading orator of his time. His favorite poetic topic was the sea and his book, "Swedish Naval Souvenirs," once received a prize from the Swedish Acadamy.

Prince William has also had a naval education and his poetic writings are inspired for the most part by the experiences of a sailor. Born June 17, 1884, at the Tullgarn Castle, near Stockholm, he entered the Swedish fleet as a cadet as early as 1898 and in 1904 passed the examination for naval officer and the same year received his commission as second Lieutenant. In 1906 he became a Lieutenant and in 1913 Captain. From 1914 until the end of the war he served as commander of various warships and as head of the division of torpedo boats. He now belongs to the naval reserve.

Mr. Smith had him removed to the office of a physician, where it was found that his injuries were of a slight nature. He then took him home.

Punxsutawney Folks Scared By Lightning

(International News Service)

PUNSUTAWNEY, Pa., Jan. 31—Despite the time honored adage assuring them that no more danger is in prospect, residents scaned the skies with anxious eyes today following a sudden bolt of lightning which tumbled them out of their beds early yesterday and ushered in a downpour of rain which vanished in a few minutes.

The lightning which struck with a clap which resounded through the town nicked a corner off the residence of Peter L. Brown and affected the lighting systems of the entire neighborhood.

At the morning service the pastor, Rev. Jesse B. Foster, preached on the Walter Scott Memorial, this being the centennial year of the founding of the Christian church in America. Mrs. R. C. Morris sang a solo number at this service.

Monkey At Large On Neshannock Ave.

Officer Pete Hillers and Thomas McCullough this morning attempted the role of "big game" hunters in the Neshannock avenue district and while temporarily successful had to admit defeat in the finish.

There was a call from 418 Neshannock avenue to the effect there was a monkey at large at that place and was creating considerable excitement in the household.

Visions of headliness in the newspapers as big game hunters were entertained by Officer Hillers and McCullough as they left for the place.

They found on their arrival that the monkey had been discovered on a window of the kitchen at that place. Someone in the house had opened the window and in came the monkey.

The fun started with the monkey chasing the ladies out of the house and jumping on their shoulder and causing palpitation of the heart every time that it did so.

Hillers and McCullough gave chase in the house but the monkey with all the cleverness atributed to his forefathers led them a merry pace. Finally for some unforeseen reason, the monkey jumped up on the shoulder of Hillers and the chase was over.

As Officer Hillers and McCullough walked to the police car outside, the monkey went along contentedly. On arrival at the car, however, the monkey jumped up on the top of the car and insisted on remaining there.

The start was made for the police station with the new found menagerie on exhibition on the top of the car, when another machine passing by made a terrific noise as the exhaust let go and away went the money into the tall timbers at the upper end of the Neshannock avenue district and it has not been seen since.

But the police are anticipating numerous calls later when some one discovers this playful animal peeking in at their windows, trying to upset their garbage cans or doing other playful tricks in attempting to get something to eat and a warm place to stay.

The monkey was relocated at noon today, on the roof of the Book home on Neshannock avenue and has positively refused to come down from its lofty perch or have anything to do with the human race, which some people say is the descendant of the monkey.

It has been found that the monkey is one of a pair which Officer Robert Dukes of the city police force has been wintering for Paul Marousis, the owner, who keeps them at the park in the summer.

It has been out since some time last night. Officer Dukes will take the other monkey to the scene this afternoon and endeavor to get it to join its mate.

Mine Fire Is Still Raging

Fire In Mine Near Morgantown Rages Despite Water Pouring Into Shafts

SECOND BLAST OCCURS SUNDAY

(International News Service)

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 31—With 21,000 gallons of water a minute pouring into the Connellsville by-products mine at Scott's Run, near here, where a fire has been raging since Friday, Robert Lambie, chief of the state department of mines, announced today that he hoped to completely flood the south section of the mine in a week. One miner lost his life when carbon monozide fumes filled a shaft, of the mine and four others were serfously injured in a subsequent explosion.

Sunday morning a second explosion ripped out a portion of the south section, but there were no miners in the shaft at the time. Fire bosses were placed in the Gilbert Davis mine No. 1, and the Liberty mine of the Continental Coal company nearby as added precautions, since both mines take coal from a vein immediately above the burning mine.

Owing to the fact that there are five veins of coal within the danger zone of the flaming Connellsville mine, engineers were ordered to take every precaution to prevent spread of the blaze.

Cut Down Accidents On Pennsylvania Railroad In Month

Accidents have been reduced from 31 to 11 during the first month of the safety campaign that is being put on by the Pennsylvania Railroad during this year.

These surprising results show what intelligent care can do in preventing accidents, as the number of accidents being reduced to almost one-third of what they were last year shows that it pays to take care.

Each division of the Pennsylvania Railroad is striving to secure the the gold safety banner and the silver safety banner for the most effective response to the safety appeal. To be the banner division in the Pennsylvania Railroad is an honor worth achieving and it looks as though the Erie and Ashtabula Division has made a good start this, the first month of the campaign.

Police Officers Foils Burglars

As Officer Flinner was making his rounds on Croton avenue about 1:40 o'clock this morning, he turned into the alley in the rear of Paisley's drug store and other stores on that section of Washington street.

As he reached the rear of the Dome theater he saw a man run away from the rear door of Try's Auto Supply Company and commanded him to stop. The man paid no heed and kept on running and Officer Flinner fired at him a couple of times.

On examination of the door of Try's Auto Supply Company Officer Flinner found that a part of the door had been broken out and some of the bars loosened.

The man was evidently caught in the act of trying to force an entrance into the place.

Plan Program For Bishop's Crusade In Trinity Church

Local Episcopal Congregations To Combine In Meeting Beginning February 25

Speaking in Trinity church yesterday morning upon recent events received as news items through the medium of the church press, The Rev. Philip C. Pearson, called attention to the great moral victory which has been achieved through the defeat of the Lausanne treaty with Turkey, the American conscience winning over oil, money and selfishness.

Using the reports which came on Saturday afternoon, the great significance of the services in commemoration of 1,300 years of services held on the present site of York Cathedral, England, he pointed to the continuous life of the church illustrated by the same worship, according to the same faith, and the fellowship of the same church as that held in Trinity, New Castle, yesterday.

Special attention was given to the Bishop's Crusade, Trinity and St. Andrew's combining, at Trinity, beginning Sunday evening, February 20th at 7:30 o'clock and continuing every evening beginning at 7:45 o'clock through Friday, February 25. The Children's and Young People's Crusade every afternoon beginning Monday, at 4:30 o'clock. The crusader is to be the Rev. Malcolm de P. Maynard, rector of Grace church, Ridgeway, who was described as under the conditions of Trinity and St. Andrew's, the best available man in the diocese of Erie. Mr. Pearson said he regarded the crusade as a great opportunity for good and found himself most enthusiastic about it.

Legion Members Speed Up Drive

New Castle-Ellwood Contest Spurs On Campaign For Members

After one of the most intensive campaigns carried on in the last five or six years, the Perry S. Gaston Post No. 343, of the American Legion is over the top in membership. In other words, the number of new members reported last week swelled the membership to two more than it was last year and the first month of the new year has just ended.

Encouraged by their success so far, the members of the various teams in the membership campaign are planning on speeding up their work during the coming month when they hope to double their membership. And there is plenty of incentive for doing so, because the local post is engaged in a contest with their natural rivals down at Ellwood City and a big banquet is in store for the winners. Naturally the New Castle boys expect to eat turkey down in Ellwood and they hope to establish this fact in a most decisive manner, but the Ellwood Legionaires are not laying down on the job either and so the fight is on.

General Chairman Ivor V. Davis is very much encouraged over the results attained so far and is sending out the team captains and members in a mopping up campaign this week.

City Not Liable Robert White Says

Solicitor Robert White today rendered opinions to city council in which he opined that the city is not liable for injuries received by Mrs. Mary Norris and Mrs. Mary Thomas who slipped, fell and were hurt on sidewalks. Solicitor White said that in the Thomas case C. Ed. Smith should be notified as he is the owner of the building where the Mary Lee candy store is located. Mrs. Thomas claims in her notice to council that it was in front of the candy store that she fell.

Coal Miners To Return To Work At Sykesville

Miners Idle Eleven Weeks In Protest To Company Hiring Non-Union Worker

(International News Service)

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Jan. 31.—Three hundred men employed by the Cascade Coal company at Sykesville, near here, will return to work in the mine tomorrow on a part time schedule after an 11 weeks' layoff.

The men, all union miners, walked out of the mine as a protest against the company's having hired a man formerly employed in a non-union mine. The offending miner was escorted to the station by a group of workers the same evening, and has not been seen since.

The miners, however, did not return to work immediately, protesting against the company's policy in employing the man. After a two weeks' layoff, representatives of the miners made overtures, which were refused by the company.

Today it was announced the company would resume operations on part time basis.
